OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today the Canadian government has received no messages from its embassies in Moscow or Vienna indicating any truth to the rumor that Premier Khrushchev has been deposed.

S.A. Cabinet Shuffle?

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — South Africa's Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd may be planning a cabinet shuffle, political circles said today.

MAO PLEDGES ALGERIANS UNLIMITED AID

COPENHAGEN (Reuters) — Algerian rebel leader Ferhat Abbas said today that Communist China's offer of "unlimited help" to the rebels had created a "completely new situation" in Algeria and he no longer was interested in negotiations with French President de Gaulle. Abbas, head of the Algerian provisional government, said the insurgents would continue their war for independence. In an interview published in the Danish newspaper Aktuelt, Abbas said Mao promised the insurgents "unlimited help, without conditions of any kind."

VANCOUVER (CP) — Premier Bennett said today the Social Credit government has never passed legislation against labor and never will.

He was commenting at the opening session of the annual meeting of the British Columbia Social Credit League on reports that the government plans "anti-labor" legislation. In a talk which stressed federal politics, he said: "We've never had a single bit of legislation against labor and never will." He said since Social Credit came to office in 1952 the government has stepped on many corns, including those of big business.

When "certain labor bosses tried to be more powerful than the government itself" the government had replied with labor legislation that made it possible for working men and their wives to get wages for work instead of strike pay.

He said nobody in his right mind would say that a trade union is not a legal entity as set out in the act. He described Labor Minister Wicks, defeated in the Sept. 12 election, as the best labor minister in B.C.'s history, adding that Social Credit would not have won the election without the labor vote.

Kennedy, Nixon In Hectic Finale

WASHINGTON — Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy zig-zagged across thousands of miles today in almost frenzied campaign efforts with only four days left before the presidential election.

Kennedy faced a hectic day of travel up to a major television address tonight from Chicago. Nixon will make another night TV appearance. President Eisenhower was scheduled to make a major speech on Nixon's behalf at noon in Cleveland and follow with a television address from Pittsburgh just before Kennedy goes on the air.

DUMPED AT SEA

Ex-Judge Charged In Murders

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Joseph Peel, former city judge of West Palm Beach, Fla., was arrested here Thursday night on charges of murder in the 1955 death of a Florida judge and his wife.

Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth and his wife, Marjorie, vanished from their West Palm Beach oceanfront home June 15, 1955. Police said circumstances indicated they had been kidnapped and slain.

Sheriff James Turner said Peel, a neatly-dressed man, was taken into custody 40 minutes after he arrived by plane from Charlotte, N.C.

Turner said Peel apparently came here to join James Donald Miles, 31, an Eau Gallie, Fla., builder. Miles and Peel, the sheriff said, are also under $25,000 bond in Florida on charges that they conspired to murder a Florida ex-convict, Floyd Holzapfel, 36.

Florida authorities said it was Holzapfel who last month blurted out to two undercover agents in Melbourne, Fla., that he and another man were hired to murder Chillingworth.

THROWN INTO SEA

According to the story, which police said they tape recorded, the men took the 58-year-old judge and his wife four or five miles out to sea, weighted them with chains, and threw them overboard.

The presidential rivals mocked each other's use of campaign support as they stepped up the fervor of their attacks on both the opposition personality and party.

Nixon, on a sweep into North Carolina and Texas, again chided Kennedy for saying the United States was approaching an economic slump. "He may have more dollars than you have but you have a lot more sense than he has," he said during a Houston address.

'Nonsense' Replies Tass

VIENNA (AP) — Completely unverified rumors of a government upset in the Soviet Union spread through offices of the Austrian government today and led a Vienna newspaper to issue an edition carrying the banner headline:

"Struggle for power in Moscow, Khrushchev ousted, Malenkov successor."

Moscow denied the rumors. Its embassy here called the story "utter nonsense." The embassy at Bonn, Germany, used "stupid nonsense." The Soviet news agency office in New York spoke of "complete nonsense."

But in Paris, French Information Minister Louis Terrenoire told reporters that diplomats had the impression "that something has happened or is happening" in Moscow.

MOSCOW NORMAL

The Moscow bureau of The Associated Press reported the Soviet capital gave every appearance of normal business, with no sign of government upheaval. Soviet officials in the West reported they had heard nothing to substantiate the rumors and Western experts on the Russian situation were sceptical that a coup had taken place.

The rumor as printed in Abend-Press, Vienna's only evening paper, was that Georgi Malenkov, the man Nikita Khrushchev succeeded as premier, had taken over the government in a coup engineered by the anti-party group. This is the group of old Communists, including Malenkov, that Khrushchev tumbled from power in 1957.

The newspaper, crediting its story to "international circles" here, claimed that Communist China has had an important hand in the alleged upheaval.

ORIGIN CONFUSED

There were two versions as to how it all began in this city of many rumors:

1. An unidentified man called up several local news offices with the report.
2. A code clerk in the local Soviet Embassy broke the news to an Austrian friend early today.

Neither version could be traced authoritatively.

Highly placed officials in Washington expressed skepticism as did diplomats in European capitals. One informant there said there has been no evidence that Premier Khrushchev was in serious trouble, although he has been engaged in a long ideological struggle with the Chinese Communists.

9 SEAMEN FEARED LOST IN NEW U.K. STORMS

LONDON (AP) — Nine seamen were feared lost in a gale sweeping the English Channel today. Storms sent new floods spilling over southern England.

The nine men were aboard the 200-ton British motorship Lessrix, missing off the south coast. Search planes spotted two ship's boats but they were empty.

The gales prevented the French liner Liberte from making its usual call at Plymouth. Instead she landed London-bound passengers at Le Havre.

Large areas of Kent and Sussex were laid waste by floods which snarled rail and road communications with London.

In Kent, 50,000 acres of land were covered in the country's worst floods on record.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The Soviet Union, in a reversal of policy prompted by Afro-Asian hostility, agreed today to postpone for at least a year Premier Nikita Khrushchev's ultimatum for a "radical" reorganization of the United Nations.

Soviet delegate Alexei A. Roschin, speaking in the General Assembly's budget committee, announced the Soviet pullback by saying Russia would leave its sweeping reorganization demands in the hands of a "committee of experts."

The committee, already selected by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to review problems of the UN secretariat, is not due to issue its first full report until the 16th Assembly next year.

UP TO COMMITTEE

Roschin left to the committee's "serious consideration" all the issues raised by Khrushchev during his three-week visit to the assembly earlier this fall.

They included the demand that the office of the secretary-general be eliminated and replaced by a three-man Soviet-style presidium representing the so-called Western, socialist and neutralist blocs, and also the call for "more equitable" regional representation in the secretariat.

A third key point was Russia's demand that the UN budget—estimated at about $67.5 million for 1961—be "stabilized" at only $50 million and all appropriations over that be put into a series of "special budgets" supported only by the nations immediately concerned.

Roschin's sudden announcement that these points would be postponed gave strength to reports the Soviet bloc also may reverse its decision not to pay its share of the multi-million-dollar UN Congo operation.

'Clean Sheet' Talks

Congo 'Colony' Mobutu Charges

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — Col. Joseph Mobutu's Council of High Commissioners today accused the United Nations of plotting to establish a "colonial regime" in the Congo with the help of Afro-Asian nations.

"The UN Secretary-General (Dag Hammarskjold) has finally revealed his plans to put our country under a colonial regime of the United Nations with the help of Ghana, Guinea, Morocco and Asiatic countries including India," a statement read over Leopoldville radio said.

The statement, read by deputy information high commissioner Pascal Kapella, called upon Congolese to rally behind the army and "fight to the death" against the alleged plot.

It rejected Hammarskjold's assertions Thursday that Mobutu's army coup last Sept. 14 had aggravated the political situation and claimed that thanks to the army, the terrorism which occurred "before the eyes of UN troops," had been stamped out.

Kapella said the United Nations also was trying to prevent the return of Belgian teachers and businessmen to the Congo to aid in the nation's rehabilitation.

COMPULSORY RETIREMENT

LONDON (CP) — Britain today published draft legislation that eventually will make it compulsory for Canadian superior court judges to retire at the age of 75.

The move was initiated with the publication of a bill to amend the British North America Act of 1867—Canada's constitution.

Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandys introduced the legislation in the British House of Commons. Sandys' action follows earlier authorization of the move by the Canadian Parliament.

The amendment is to come into force March 1.

JUST ABOUT EVERYTHING GOING UP

Living Costs Reach All-Time High

OTTAWA (CP) — The cost of nearly one per cent during September.

The bureau of statistics reported today the index rose a full point to 129.4 on Oct. 1 from 128.4 a month earlier, with increases felt in all sectors of the consumer budget.

It was the biggest monthly jump since June, 1956.

Most of the increase came from a two-per-cent rise in food costs which the bureau described as a seasonal increase.

The index consumer living costs, based on 1949 prices, equalling 100, now is 1.1 per cent higher than the Oct. 1, 1959, level of 128.0.

The bureau said food price tags rose in September on eggs, most meats, bananas, citrus fruits and tomatoes, though there were lower prices for apples, Canadian-grown vegetables, veal and lamb. Net effect was to move the index of food costs to a record 125.8 on Oct. 1 from 123.2 a month earlier. The food index thus was 1.3 per cent above the previous record of 124.4 set a year earlier.

All other components of the general consumer price index also climbed during September, with increases averaging one-fifth of one per cent.

The September rise in living costs followed a decline in industrial wages during August. The index of average industrial wages and salaries at Sept. 1—latest date available—was 176.7 compared with 177.6 a month earlier and 170.9 a year earlier. This index is based on 1949 average wages equalling 100.

Apart from the rise in food prices, the part of the consumer budget most affected in September was clothing.

The index of clothing costs advanced three-fifths of one per cent to 112.2 from 110.5 between Sept. 1 and Oct. 1.

MIAMI — Six licensed palm readers, seers and spiritualists who claim the power to foretell the future were asked by a newsmen Thursday to tell him who will be elected president.

Four crystal balls showed Democrat John Kennedy the winner. Two promised victory for Republican Richard Nixon.

HALIFAX — The quiz question read: "How many times did Babe Ruth strike out in his career?"

Announcer Gerry Parsons of radio station CFCB got a variety of answers but one stumped him: The lady asked, "Who?"

"Babe Ruth, did you ever hear of him?"

"No," came the reply, "I'm not from Halifax."

BRISTOL — A woman wrote to the local gas company Thursday to pay her bill. She made the cheque out to the electric company — and enclosed her telephone bill.

TORONTO — Television star Joyce Davidson, criticized last year for saying she thought Canadians were indifferent to the royal visit, was in the centre of another controversy Thursday.

Miss Davidson was criticized for remarks Tuesday night on CBLT-TV show 701 when she said it was unfair to spoil children's fun on Halloween by making them raise money for UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Emergency Fund.

Mrs. James E. Kelly Jr., chairman of this year's UNICEF campaign in Toronto, protested Miss Davidson's remarks in a letter to Michael Hind-Smith, manager of CBLT-TV.

LONDON — Firecrackers popped, fizzed and banged behind Buckingham Palace Thursday night as 10-year-old Princess Anne celebrated Guy Fawkes' Day 48 hours early.

The 355th anniversary of Fawkes' attempt to blow up parliament is Saturday night. But Anne wanted to celebrate with her friends before going to Windsor for the weekend.

Her father, Prince Philip, supervised and lit the firecrackers while the Queen watched.

PEORIA, Ill. — Policeman Gary Tate complained Thursday someone stole his badge, trousers, sweater and jacket while he took part in a baseball game.

BOSTON — Former Senator Owen Brewster of Maine

Thursday night won a jury verdict in his $400,000 libel suit against the Boston Herald-Traveler Corporation. Federal Judge Charles Wyzanski ordered a directed award of one penny.

Brewster contended an editorial published Aug. 6, 1954, damaged his reputation. The editorial said he hired a Washington police lieutenant to tap telephone lines into the rooms of industrialist Howard Hughes.

WASHINGTON — Andrew J. Biemiller, AFL-CIO legislative director returning to his desk speech-making for Senator John Kennedy, found a letter from Vice President Richard Nixon.

"Dear fellow campaigner," Nixon's letter said, "as our campaign goes into the final drive, I want you to know how very much I appreciate your warm support and hard work in my behalf."

The letter, predicting "one of the closest presidential races in the history of the United States," asked redoubled efforts and ended, "With my warm personal regards, Dick Nixon."

Biemiller said: "Certainly I'm going to continue campaigning with increasing vigor—but for the other guy."

Plane Crashes Onto Freeway

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — A Robert Yeakel, 41, burst into small plane piloted by a Los Angeles businessman fought for more than an hour to stay aloft in a rainstorm, then plunged onto a crowded freeway and exploded.

Authorities said at least five persons were killed. The plane, piloted by wealthy auto dealer countless small fragments near the east city limits of Ontario Thursday night.

Four cars were struck by the hurtling wreckage, three of them destroyed, according to witnesses. One motorist was killed. The crash scene was 25 miles east of Los Angeles.

Authorities said the victims, in addition to Yeakel, were his sons, Kenneth, 23, and Robert, Jr., 14, and business associate, Joseph Taylor, 41.

Jose Castaneda, 48, an itinerant farm worker, was fatally injured when the wreckage hit his car.

Hours later officials still were't sure that others hadn't died. Bodies were mutilated by the blast, making identification difficult.

'Fare Cuts in East To Attract Tourists'

Victoria businessmen today saw a silver lining in Thursday's announcement of a new fare structure by Trans-Canada Air Lines.

Sharp criticism followed the report of a $4 increase (to $14) in round trip fares on the Victoria-Vancouver run.

But after a second look at all aspects of the changes, businessmen saw Victoria gaining in the over-all picture.

They pointed out that tourist-traffic—the big worry—is likely to improve because lower rates are now offered from prairie and eastern points where the largest tourist traffic is generated.

IN OFF-SEASON

Walter Dodsworth, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group, told the Times the 25 per cent cut in fares offered prairie and eastern tourists on special excursion rates could bring more tourists to Victoria in the off-season.

He saw little likelihood of the Victoria-Vancouver fare boost adversely affecting the flow of tourists here.

"It's not a matter of losing tourists," he said, "but simply of having more of them come by ferry."

Conway Parrott, a Chamber director, said: "This is the opportunity Victoria has been waiting for. Now is the time to press for one or more trans-continental flights from Victoria. The new once-daily service to Calgary provides a good starting point for a campaign to get full service."

Chamber president Aubrey Kent conceded that the airline had to charge fares which were more consistent with actual costs of operations. (TCA claims that cost analysis study of the Vancouver-Victoria route indicates a $12 one-way fare would be the actual break even point on the operation.)

Mr. Kent said: "There is no doubt that the increase will boost the use of the government ferries which now provide an excellent service. But I don't see how the airline could compete with the ferries if it meant taking a heavy loss on the operation."

Local TCA officials were quick to defend the airline against the charge that the fare increase was directed discriminately against Victoria.

It was pointed out that $7 one-way fare was a minimum for short hauls anywhere in the country and that on a cost basis they still provided a considerable measure of subsidization on the shorter routes.

They said it is unlikely the fare increases would bring any closer direct helicopter service between the downtown areas of Victoria and Vancouver.

Comparable distances covered by helicopter service in the United States indicate that one-way fares of well over $10 would have to be charged between Victoria and Vancouver.

On the 20-mile run between New York's Idlewild airport and downtown, for instance, the single fare is $7.

Herter To Brief Successor

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter hopes to give his successor—Democrat or Republican—a thorough briefing on foreign policy problems before the new administration takes office on Jan. 20.

For that reason, Herter hopes the new president-elect will designate quickly the man he intends to nominate as secretary of state.

The problem of briefing a new secretary probably will not arise if Vice-President Richard M. Nixon wins the election. Nixon is understood to have settled on Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon as his choice for secretary of state. Dillon, of course, already is in the mainstream of foreign policy.

If Kennedy wins, the situation will be different. So far, the Democratic candidate has given no real hint of his choice for secretary of state.

Rep. Chester Bowles, D-Conn., former Ambassador to India, is believed to have the inside track for the post if Kennedy wins. Bowles has served as foreign affairs adviser to Kennedy.

Adlai Stevenson is believed to have lost any chance he had of being secretary of state under Kennedy when he remained in the race for the presidential nomination at the Los Angeles convention.

CALLUSES
To relieve painful calluses, burning or tenderness on bottoms of feet and remove calluses—get those heels, soles, and toes—put on D'Scholls Zino-pads

Sharpest criticism of the fare boost came from government leaders, although there was no indication that any official protests or representations would be made.

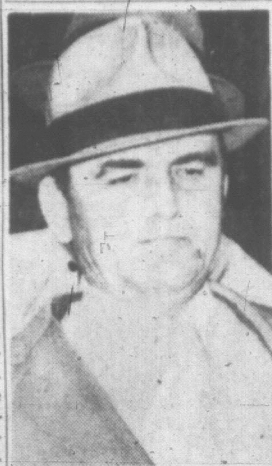

Premier Bennett said the TCA fare increase is further proof of his government's far-sightedness in providing the "fast link" ferry service between Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen. He deplored the TCA action as a move which added to the cost of living of Vancouver Island residents.

Mayor Percy Scurrell said that while he wasn't too happy to see the increase he planned no official protest.

"We won't protest," he said, "unless there seems to be some hope of it being effective. But I do feel this will have a very detrimental effect on the city, and our citizens will be very materially affected."

Victoria Labor Council secretary A. W. Toone said the fare increase would have a detrimental effect on local business.

The increase was unwarranted, he felt, since the airline is a vital link between the Island, the capital, the mainland and the rest of Canada.

CHARGED as a Soviet spy, Igor Melekh, 47, was released in $50,000 bail today in New York. His wife Irina, who posted the bond, promised to inform U.S. authorities if Melekh decided to leave the United States.

Belgium Blasts UN on Congo

BRUSSELS (UPI)—Belgium today denounced UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's top aides for what it termed "unseemly" and "ridiculous" criticisms of Belgium's Congo policy.

The Belgian statement from a foreign ministry spokesman was the strongest so far in Belgium's quarrel with the world body over the Congo crisis.

The spokesman singled out assistant secretaries-general Andrew Cordier and Dr. Ralph Bunche, both Americans. The spokesman said both officials are guilty of "serious professional faults."

Bunche was reported to have declared Belgium should have called for UN intervention immediately when the Congolese army mutinied after independence instead of sending in Belgian paratroopers. The Belgian spokesman rejected this as "completely unfounded."

He said the Congo was an independent country and Belgium could not appeal to the United Nations on its behalf.

Breakdown of Law and Order

THE UNITED NATIONS report on the situation in the Congo puts an official seal of credibility on an almost incredible state of affairs. Its censure of Belgian nationals who, although their Brussels government is formally divorced from Congo affairs, are returning to Leopoldville and trying to interfere in administrative processes, constitutes a most serious charge. And the disclosure of Congolese ineptness in administration confirms the unofficial reports which have been coming from that land of chaos.

The Belgian development is particularly upsetting. The report charges that individuals are trying to dominate the native Congolese administration and obstruct the work of the U.N. in advising the Government and providing technical assistance.

In fact, says the report, "Some Belgian nationals are believed to have been actively arming separatist Congolese forces..." and even directing them in violent action.

Such interference can have several serious effects. It helps to prolong the chaotic conditions which are found in the Congo and which remain a threat to world peace. It endangers the success of the work of the United Nations there, and hence the prestige and future of the world body which is now under attack from Communist countries. And it provides the Communist powers with ammunition to use in their accusations that Western nations are trying to preserve colonial control.

The actions of Belgian nationals as described in the U.N. report can only be viewed as fifth-column activity: a threat to the United Nations and to Belgium's Western allies. The full power of the U.N. should be used to halt such interference.

The second part of the report bears further witness to the tremendous job of education and training that awaits in the Congo. Almost completely unprepared, the Congolese cannot run their administrative machine without help. This should be help from U.N. sources, not from "too-helpful" Belgian individuals.

The U.N. criticism of the college of commissioners set up by Colonel Mobutu is particularly revealing. "Their inexperience, their lack of method and order, their susceptibility to outside influences, combined with a propensity to issue conflicting statements..." surely is confusion worse confounded. Effective central government does not exist in the Congo, the report says, and there is a steady breakdown of law and order.

The situation can only be saved by an outpouring of aid from the United Nations. With Congolese acquiescence and co-operation, a sufficient body of technicians and civil servants from a number of nations should be introduced to put the country's administration back on a workable basis. This must be effected even before the political tangle is straightened out. But the Congolese will have to be convinced that the aid is being given on altruistic grounds. There can be no suggestion of any nation seeking advantage.

The basic solution, of course, can only be applied over a long term. It is to carry out the job which Belgium should have been doing through the years of colonial control—to educate the population to the point where it has some hope of operating a democratic state, to train able political leaders, and to train a body of workers to carry out the work of administration and control in key positions.

That will not be done overnight, but a start cannot be longer delayed. The U.N. debate on the Congo, which opens next Monday, should be used as the basis for strong and early action.

Getting Crowded Up There

THE POPULAR INDIGNATION directed at aircraft which "buzzed" the plane carrying the Queen back to England following a visit to Denmark has died down. The incident may, however, have a useful result.

It has led to stronger advocacy of better control of air space for commercial craft and the clearer division in European skies between areas to be used by military planes and by civilian lines.

This is an issue which will be recurring regularly as density of traffic increases. Too many aircraft are now sharing space aloft to leave undone anything that can be done to increase safety.

There are no "stop-and-go" lights up there, but there is machinery at airbases and airports to channel aircraft along routes that reduce risks.

It is a regrettable fact that danger to the Queen in flight should have been the cause of intensified interest in this matter. It is nevertheless gratifying to know that because the incident occurred, the whole subject of extending protective ribbons in the air to civilian passenger aircraft is drawing closer scrutiny.

Again Beautiful B.C.

WHEN "BEAUTIFUL BRITISH Columbia" first came from the presses in August, 1959, it was generally acclaimed as the finest pictorial publication of its kind ever released to show the world the attractions of this province.

The fifth edition has now been printed. Like the four which preceded it, the color work and scenic photography are excellent. Once more a splendid Fenwick Lansdowne painting—a Cinnamon Teal —has been reproduced in full color.

The Department of Recreation and Conservation, justifiably proud of its publication and informed of the world-wide distribution it has received in former editions, adds a note of information to its release of the magazine.

Those who wish to send copies to friends abroad should secure them without delay and note that Christmas mailing deadlines are close.

"Seriously though, Pam... my own thinking is this... Kennedy is all right... in a way... and Nixon is rather, well... you know..."

PASSING THE WRONG TESTS

Is Statesmanship Only Make-Up Deep?

By B. A. TOBIN

OUR forefathers would have read the item with perplexity. (And let us hope posterity will do the same). It was a Canadian Press dispatch from Mr. Nixon's campaign aircraft which told of the artificial complexion of the presidential candidate.

Using to increase his appeal to the voters. He wears, we are told, a light application of artificial sun-tan on his face, to present that required healthy look. And for indoor appearances he adds extra makeup to counteract the lights and cameras.

Do not think this is a minor eccentricity, an exaggerated personal concern of the candidate. Except for the outdoor tan, it could apply to Mr. Kennedy too. And the reason lies in the answer given to the CP correspondent when he asked Mr. Nixon's publicity advisers about this aspect of the election campaign.

"You mean to say," he queried, "that the American public will vote for a president simply because of his complexion or his outward appearance?"

And the answer was: "It counts. It counts big."

The TV camera, of course, has been the major factor in bringing this matter to public attention. Under heavy candlepower, the relentless lens exposes every flaw of the subject's face—every wrinkle, blemish, muscle and hair. Few people can stand such a scrutiny without a cosmetician's aid.

Getting the Picture

But perhaps more important still is the general picture presented: the feeling it arouses in the viewer—what the professionals call the image.

In Eisenhower it is called the aura. In earlier days it was called personality. In still earlier days the look of a man was interpreted in terms of his character. Today it's the image—and character takes second place to attractiveness and the visual capacity to arouse feelings of sympathy and relationship.

At this point, Prof. Henry Commager produces an interesting article in the latest issue of the New York Times Magazine. He launches out on the thesis that "Washington would have lost a TV debate." And he tries to show—successfully I feel—that the TV debate as developed in this campaign is not the proper vehicle for presidential arguments.

It puts a premium on glibness and fluency, he says, while the real qualities desirable in a president—patience, prudence, humility, sagacity, judiciousness, magnanimity—can be positive handicaps on a television screen.

The judgment of the TV camera might well have eliminated many of America's great presidents, if they had had to pass such a test.

Washington, says Prof. Commager, thought too slowly to come out well in a TV debate; Jackson would probably have lost his temper, the debate and the election; Lincoln was slow in political give and take; Wilson required time to analyze and qualify. Franklin Roosevelt, he believes, would have been one of the few to show up well, being plentifully endowed with wit and assurance.

In a sense, then, the TV ordeal has set up a test for presidential fitness which does not depend on presidential qualities—yet millions of voters may be employing that test to help them form their opinions.

He Must Know

Another point is raised. Since the success of the TV appearance depends on quick and fluent answers, it becomes impossible for a candidate to say "I don't know" when some tangled problem is presented to him for an answer. He must say something, and he must say it fast, since two or three minutes will be all he can use. Yet the problem might be one which requires an hour or more to develop thoroughly, explain and master.

The danger is that TV audiences will get used to the idea that the most pressing conundrums of the world today—and there are some dandies as any newspaper reader knows—can be answered in a hundred seconds or so, off the cuff.

Such an approach to statesmanship is false. The shallow, skip-the-details answer to world problems may get a man elected, but it cannot help him once he's in office. Once elected, he will have to divest himself of the spurious mental trappings he affected while campaigning, and quickly—if he can—revert to something more statesmanlike. How much better if he could be elected on his real qualities.

TV, of course, does have the advantage of getting a whole nation interested in public affairs, and giving everyone a glance at the candidates' faces and thoughts. But it is no more than a glance and should not be mistaken for a serious study.

With that qualification, strike up the band, light up the tube, and view the campaign. Canadians will do well to get a full experience of this election medium. Because the chances are that our elections will be following right along in the same channel.

U.S. Reaction

The New York Times

IF the United States Senate and the Canadian Parliament agree to the proposed international program for developing the waters of the upper Columbia River system, a great new source of wealth will be opened on both sides of the border.

The project was worked out by negotiators from both Canada and the United States after a hard ten years of bargaining. Canadian Prime Minister John Diefenbaker said both countries would derive "enormous benefits." Minister of Justice E. Davie Fulton, who headed the Canadian negotiators, said, "We think we got a good deal."

Essentially, the proposals call for a Canadian reservoir system providing 15,000,000 acre feet of storage, or about one-half that provided by the Mead Reservoir above the Hoover Dam; they would give the United States nearly 1.7 million kilowatts of low-cost power, or more than 10 per cent of the power that our own TVA will have after completing its present program; and they would cost $1.5 billion.

The whole Canadian reservoir system would about equal the facilities provided by the Grand Coulee Dam. It would probably save this country $300 million in flood control and power projects that would otherwise have to be built.

It is hard to translate such majestic engineering works into terms of human life, but certainly some hundreds of thousands or millions of people in the Northwest on both sides of our almost invisible boundary line will benefit—and their children and children's children after them.

President Eisenhower, in his explanatory statement at Palm Springs, laid emphasis on the "participation wherever feasible of non-federal public and private enterprise."

This may renew an old controversy, but we believe the great mass of Americans will accept public power and river control development where this seems the most economical way, as in the Tennessee Valley, and will turn just as cheerfully to private development if that seems in the public interest. There is no such thing as partisan electric power, partisan flood control or partisan irrigation.

Clear the Air

It is a cause for grave concern when the superintendent of child welfare of B.C. feels she has to resign after serving in that capacity since 1944.

This province pioneered in trying to raise standards of rural social welfare. In this attempt, Miss McKay played a key role. If she finds it necessary now to resign it must be for reasons which should be disclosed. Now, only Mr. Black, the minister of welfare, can clear the air. It is his duty to do so.

Old Home Values

Older homes must go, states the town planner at a women's club recently in the city.

One notes that many of the old homes are close in. In Calgary such valuable land is priced by the foot. A set price on land value, an owner can expect that at least, or more.

Any city planner appears justified in his hopes to protect the future high standard of Canadian housing but there are some values that need a closer look. The rich new investors sweeps us behind such statements, "Older homes must go." Is the owner expected to run or wait for fair value? Surely Victoria land is worth selling.

Many of the present owners are veterans' widows, and others on limited pensions and are just as interested in high standards of Canadian housing as those in housing authority, but high costs outlaw them in expressing an active part.

They are also interested in getting fair price value, for the so-called old homes.

The Author With a Frankness That Is Minus Malice Reveals His Subject Warts and All

"THE MACKENZIE KING RECORD," Volume I, 1938-1944. By J. W. Pickersgill. Toronto: University of Toronto Press, 1960. Pp. xi, 723. $11.50.

By PROF. F. E. SOWARD
Associate Dean, Faculty of Graduate Studies, University of B.C.

I AM not choosing my words lightly when I say at the outset that Mr. Pickersgill has produced the most revealing and fascinating memoir in the field of Canadian biography.

In an age of TV, there are still, thank heavens, a great many people who are fascinated by a book that adds to our knowledge of key personalities, who are delighted when the author reveals his subject—warts and all. For such readers here is a massive volume that will hold their attention for at least ninety per cent of the time. What more can they ask?

As Mr. Pickersgill explains in his preface, this volume is "an integral part of the biographical project" undertaken by the Literary Executors of Mackenzie King's estate. Originally, Professor Dawson was selected to write the official life. Even before his death in 1958, it was obvious that he would be unable to finish the task, and Professor Blair Neatby was commissioned to write the second volume covering the years 1923 to 1939, which should appear in a year's time.

Mr. Pickersgill, who provided the unusual combination of a literary executor, trained historian, and a member of the Prime Minister's staff until his retirement from office, had offered even before Dawson's death to assist him by preparing a "rough narrative" of the years 1939 to 1950, which might serve as a basis for Volume III. After Dawson's death, he was commissioned to do the third volume.

Because of the wealth of material in the famous diary, which runs to millions of words, the biographer decided to present Mackenzie King's own contemporary record rather than his interpretation. Consequently, Mr. Pickersgill labels this volume as an "independent project" and not "Volume III."

It covers the period from the outbreak of war to the Conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers in May, 1944, leaving for a second volume the events after D-Day.

What is presented is King the public figure who records daily his description of events, his worries and his judgments on his contemporaries. With rare exceptions, public speeches or conversations and correspondence with others are omitted. The volume, with skillfully edited and linked together by connecting explanatory passages which give the setting for the period.

In this task, Mr. Pickersgill has been remarkably successful, as unobtrusive and skillful as he was when "one of the boys in the back room" during the war.

The diary seldom rises above a meticulous record of the day, although it shows on the Prime Minister's part a remarkable gift of almost total recall of his interviews and discussions in cabinet, caucus or with Allied leaders. But there are some records of distinction and emotion, such as the account of the Prime Minister's visits to Ernest Lapointe, "a truly noble character" on his death bed.

There are descriptions of great historical interest of conversations with Roosevelt at Ogdensburg and Hyde Park, when the two men arranged for the Permanent Joint Board on Defence and laid the economic foundations for wartime co-operation.

For the first time we get from the Canadian viewpoint a full account.

There are harsh remarks about men whom King deeply disliked, such as Bennett, Meighen and Hepburn. When the latter had pneumonia in June, 1940, King remarked "I don't often wish that a man should pass away, but I believe it would be the most fortunate event that could happen at this time."

There are comments upon Neville Chamberlain and Churchill or upon colleagues, such as Ralston, Howe, and Esley, which may come as a surprise to many readers, and flashes of shrewd appraisal, such as heralded the emergence after 1940 of the Prime Minister's second team, men like Abbott and Claxton. There is a full record of the growing intimacy between King and McNaughton, which led to such unexpected developments in 1944.

There may still be people, and not all of them Tories as King invariably called his chief opponents, who are skeptical of the Prime Minister's place in history as a leader. Was he a man of drive, determination and moral courage?

Let them read of his dealings with British negotiators over the launching of the British-Commonwealth Air Training Plan or the financing of British purchases or on proposals to take over French gold in Canada.

Let them note his decisive interventions when he felt that Canadian Labor was not being treated reasonably by businessmen and administrators. There never was any question, as this book indicates, who was master in a Cabinet not lacking in strong personalities with deep personal convictions.

To follow the laborious record of the almost continuous wrangles over the conscription issue which went on in the Cabinet, particularly after the spring of 1941, but only occasionally appeared in the open, gives a far better setting for the crisis that did come in 1944.

I finished this record with increased respect for Mackenzie King as a Prime Minister.

I did not leave it with a greater liking for him as a man, although the diary reveals some humane and generous treatment of men like the French and Japanese ministers. Like many great leaders, King was highly self-centred and at times amazingly thin-skinned.

The fact, for instance, that a church in Winnipeg published a pamphlet about "Our leaders," Roosevelt and Churchill, was a source of such intense mortification to him that he even brought it up in conversation with Churchill at Quebec in 1943. He received a characteristic answer, advising him "not to be concerned about that," which is honestly recorded.

When the Prime Minister was booed by some of the Canadian troops during his first wartime visit to Britain in 1941, which, characteristically, he described as "... unfair and Tory tactics," he felt it so keenly that three days later when he was unexpectedly asked to address other troops he felt "what was like a dart pass through my bowels."

When trusted advisers such as Skelton or Rogers or Lapointe died, sorrow for their passing was speedily mingled with self-pity that he must struggle on under the burden of service to the country. The editor of this newspaper entitled his biography of Mackenzie King "The Incredible Canadian." Mr. Pickersgill's record underlines the aptness of the title.

I could go on and on and still only scratch the surface of an absorbing record. Let me add that I am waiting with greedy anticipation for the revelations that will come in the second volume.

Splinter Labor Party for U.K.?

LONDON (AP)—Left-wing Labor Party rebels who want Britain to scrap nuclear weapons and its NATO alliance today sought new strategy to continue the fight after failing to shelve Hugh Gaitskell as party leader.

Gaitskell, a supporter of the government's general defence policy, kept the top party post by a 2-to-1 majority over left winger Harold Wilson in balloting by Labor Members of Parliament. The 186-to-81 tally, the result of week-long voting, was announced Thursday night at a party caucus.

But even while Gaitskell was having a celebration dinner with his family, Wilson's supporters met to plan new moves.

The Daily Sketch reported that the rebels planned to form a splinter party, which would cut regular Labor strength in Parliament by nearly one-third. The paper said the left wingers would ask parliamentary leaders to treat them in future as a "second opposition."

Asked for debate such a move was hinted earlier by Emanuel Shinwell, a veteran member of the leftist group.

Shinwell and Sydney Silverman, another left winger, led an unsuccessful demand in the House of Commons for debate on a motion condemning the government's decision to provide a base in Scotland for U.S. nuclear Polaris-firing submarines.

Mort Meets the Press

WASHINGTON (UPD)—The last time I saw Mort Sahl, the celebrated political scientist, he was telling jokes to about 80,000 empty seats in the Los Angeles Coliseum. He got a lot of laughs, too.

This was during the final session of the Democratic national convention and I doubt that any comedian ever performed under more difficult circumstances unless it was Steve Allen. Allen appeared earlier in the program before about 90,000 empty seats.

I was interested in observing Sahl under more intimate conditions and so I attended a news conference he held here recently. This time there were only about 200 empty seats.

The seats that were occupied were occupied mostly by high school and college journalists, who were seeking to further their education. Since I am old enough to remember Will Rogers, I felt a little out of place.

Furthermore, when I attend a news conference of this sort I can never think of any questions to ask. Luckily, this was not true of my young colleagues. They were keenly curious to know Sahl's views on the presidential campaign, Russia, Castro, Khrushchev, conformity, student rioting and other humorous topics.

Sahl was wearing, among other things, a blue shirt unbuttoned at the collar, a green sweater and a watchband with two watches on it. There was some disagreement among his advisers as to whether he should sit behind the table or stand up. He finally compromised by sitting on the table.

Since his comments apparently mean a lot to a large segment of the population, I have attempted to prepare a rather abbreviated transcript of his remarks.

"Good evening. In Los Angeles, it's 11 o'clock in the morning. I don't want you to be inhibited by this formality. I want to do this the way the president does it, except that he doesn't do it very often, does he?"

"But I don't want to talk behind his back. Eisenhower takes things personally, except his office."

"I attended one of Kennedy's press conferences in New York yesterday. Anybody in this country can be president, except Adlai Stevenson. I don't know Kennedy at all but I know Nixon all too well. Knowing the candidates, you get a lot of laughs you wouldn't get otherwise."

"The great debates are pretty grim. Nixon likes to put across the image of charm. Kennedy doesn't have any either. He talks about 77 per cent of the gross national product and things like that. They both smile a lot, though. That's inner satisfaction or something."

"Yes, it's true that I spent 83 days on KP while I was in the army. But I don't want that to sound heroic."

"I just got back from Russia, you know. They don't like non-conformists either. I travelled with a young lady. If you take a guy with you, they think you're defecting."

RED CHINA MUST SHOW
REPENTANCE

TORONTO (CP)—A change of policy of Peking and some sign of repentance for past actions is needed before Canada would recognize Red China, Finance Minister Fleming said Thursday night.

He told the McMaster University Progressive Conservative Club that a great many factors, involving South and Southeast Asian situations, are involved. Recognition can not be granted by the old textbook of who controls the Chinese mainland.

China, he said, still stands indicted as an aggressor in the Korean War, in which Canadians died.

TALKS TO RESUME

Compromise Aim
In Constitution

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton and the provincial attorney-general agreed Thursday to seek compromise solutions to the problems of constitutional reform.

In order to do so, they defined the scope of the problems at a two-day constitutional conference and agreed to meet again January 12 and 13.

And in doing so, they agreed they had gone farther along the road to constitutional reform than any of their predecessors, even though the road is still strewn with rocks and pot-holes.

AGREEMENTS IN WRITING

The 1960 constitutional conference succeeded where its 1950 counterpart failed in agreeing on what points are at issue, and on what points there is no dispute. It put these into writing as a statement of principles, to be studied by each of the provincial cabinets within the next two months.

The statement was not made public. The conference agreed when it first met October 6 and 7 this year that the delegates should not spell out their arguments in public, but leave room for adjustment.

WALKER CONSENTS

However, Saskatchewan's attorney-general Walker, in a statement issued before Thursday's adjournment, said his province opposed the rule of unanimity in all constitutional amendments. To adopt it, he said, would give each province the power of veto over all others.

He also said Saskatchewan wanted power to delegate some of its constitutional rights to the federal parliament and receive from Ottawa some federal authority.

But while taking these positions in an early press release, Mr. Walker agreed later in the conference to a suggestion that all attorneys-general go back to their cabinets with the statement of principles and see if compromises could be worked out.

Strike Ends

TORONTO (CP)—Workers in Dominion Bridge Company's two Toronto plants ended a 12-week strike Wednesday night with a contract giving them a six-cent hourly increase over two years.

In the First World War he served with the 78th Battalion, and in the Second World War, was commandant at Camp Shilo, Man.

He is best known as an architect for designing the Winnipeg Civic Auditorium.

Surviving are the widow, Laura Edith, at home, 2586 Dalhousie; a sister, Mrs. K. Broadbent, Calgary; and a nephew, Harold Semmens, Vancouver.

Funeral services and interment will take place in Winnipeg. McCall's Chapel has a charge of arrangements here.

Famed U.S. Sub
To Visit Victoria

The United States submarine Rock, veteran of six Pacific patrols during the Second World War, will visit Victoria over Remembrance Day, the RCN announced today.

The Rock, which was credited with damaging 42,282 tons of shipping and survived at least two depth charge bombings, will dock at Esquimalt at 4 p.m. next Thursday, and remain in harbor until the morning of Nov. 14.

She is commanded by Lt. Cmdr. Arthur D. Napier, and is manned by eight officers and 92 men on a training cruise.

Goon Raid Leaves Club in Shambles

MONTREAL (UPI)—Near 30 vandals raided a famed Montreal night club early today in a strong-arm outburst of violence, apparently connected with an underworld protection racket.

The vandals left the Chez Paree Cafe in shambles. No one was arrested.

Police were called by frightened employees who had fled through a back door when the raiders burst through the front door. The cafe, where many of North America's leading entertainers have worked, had closed an hour before the raid.

The "goon" raids, a traditional weapon of the local mobsters, were stepped up earlier this year when managers and waiters banded together to wipe out the shake-down racket that victimized them.

They drew up a list of prominent racketeers and placed the list in a bank vault. It was to be turned over to police if any of them died in a "strange" accident or was beaten up.

No big raids on night clubs were reported in recent months.

CHEQUE FOR $500 was presented Art Gallery president, Dr. Robert Stark, right, Thursday, on behalf of Greater Victoria Teachers' Association by the president, F. J. Cairnie. Money was made available to gallery "because teachers feel a responsibility to support culture in the community," Mr. Cairnie stated. It will be used specifically to meet expenses in bringing out Woburn Abbey treasures—$1,000,000 worth of great paintings, tapestries and silver plate—which will be on display here in mid-March. Woburn Abbey is on estate of Duke of Bedford, who will accompany exhibit. (Times Photo.)

$12,000 Worth of Scotch Seized by Customs Men

(From Times News Sources)

VANCOUVER—Customs officers here have seized one of the largest cargoes of suspected contraband whisky in Vancouver's history.

About 200 cases of whisky were seized Wednesday night by officials aboard the Royal Mail Line vessel Loch Garth immediately she docked here.

Customs, police and ship officers and Royal Mail officials refused comment on the seizure or the possible results of an investigation now being conducted by customs officers here.

First reports of the raid, which leaked out Thursday, said 146 cases of Scotch, neatly stowed under a tea cargo, and another 200 bottled found in the bosun's locker were seized. Retail value of the liquor is more than $12,000.

The liquor was originally consigned from the United Kingdom to Portland, Ore., where it was to have been unloaded last Sunday. The ship discharged at a private dock and a receipt was given for the whisky.

However, the whisky apparently was not unloaded. It was moved from one hatch to another and professionally stowed.

Because of the speed of the seizure after the vessel docked here, it was believed customs officers were tipped off about the whisky.

Portland customs officials said they hadn't heard of the seizure and added: "We can only assume the ship was inspected in the usual manner here."

ACTION NEEDED

Unemployed Fund Plunging

OTTAWA (CP)—The unemployment insurance fund, which totalled $319,476,000 at the end of September, may plunge close to the $100,000,000 mark by next March unless government action is taken to halt the drain, it was reliably indicated today.

The fund had increased $23,289,000 by September from its June low of $296,187,000 when the unemployment insurance advisory committee warned the government that the fund's balance was "below a safe level" and in danger of going bankrupt.

Observers indicate no "new trend" has appeared to change the advisory committee's recommendation that the government put up $131,000,000 to replenish the fund.

At the end of September, the fund was $135,763,000 below the level of a year earlier—a drop of almost 30 per cent. Ahead are months of winter unemployment when the drain on the fund is apt to be more than $40,000,000 a month.

In the last two years, expenditures from the fund have risen sharply in December and hit a peak in March, generally the worst month for winter unemployment.

In March of this year, the monthly expenditure was almost $75,000,000, compared with revenues of $32,500,000.

Chilly Reaction To Bishop's Plan

VANCOUVER (CP) — An Anglican bishop's suggestion that the church could help labor negotiations was endorsed by Roman Catholic Archbishop William Duke today—but labor itself wasn't particularly impressed. Rt. Rev. Godfrey Gower, Anglican Bishop of New Westminster, said Thursday the church might be the catalyst needed to scatter a lot of absurdities that arose in some negotiations and could be of help in straightening out talks when acrimony between bargainers is preventing a settlement.

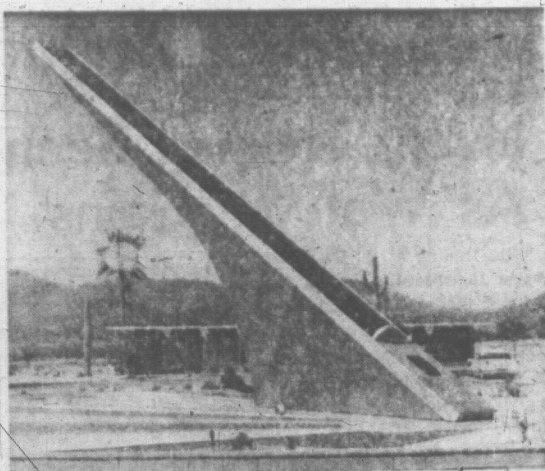

Archbishop Duke said the church, if invited, could make a worthwhile contribution to negotiators.

"The present unemployment crisis affects both capital and labor and causes undue misery to laboring classes," he said.

But Paddy Neale, secretary of the Vancouver Labor Council, said he feels both sides should rely on government conciliators.

"Bishop Gower may be speaking in good faith but I've yet to see any negotiations up in the air that could be resolved by a reverend or bishop who are inexperienced in labor matters," he said.

Management research consultant R. A. Mahoney agreed.

Perrault Says Labor 'Snubbed' Him

Liberal Leader Ray Perrault has chided B.C. labor for "snubbing" his efforts to discuss unemployment problems with its representatives.

"The Liberals have never been against labor," Mr. Perrault said here Thursday. "Unemployment affects everyone—regardless of party affiliation."

Mr. Perrault said he made several offers to appear at the recent B.C. Federation of Labor convention in Vancouver. He said he finally received a reply that "no speakers from any political party" had been invited.

However, he said, it appeared that some officials of the convention were interested in plans for formation of the New Party—a wedding of CCF and labor.

"I know there are thousands of workers in the trade union movement who would rather concentrate on solving the problem of unemployment than in wasting their energies and union resources on partisan political activity," said Mr. Perrault.

Mr. Perrault said a Liberal 24-point plan to combat un-

'Gloomy Picture Not Justified'

Eric S. Morse of Montreal, president of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada, does not believe that the gloomy outlook on Canada's economy of some commentators is justified on balance.

In Victoria to visit the local branch of the association, Mr. Morse told The Times Thursday that while business is leveling out over the last quarter of 1960 the year has been quite good.

"Canadian common stock prices have held up relatively well, in relation to U.S. markets, and are still above their low for the year," Mr. Morse said.

"I do feel," he added, "that Canadian stocks have largely taken into account any business adversity."

Mr. Morse, who is accompanied on his annual presidential tour of Western cities by H. L. Gassard, managing director of the association, said that his opinion of the Canadian economic scene seemed to be in agreement with opinions he had gathered from other investment dealers during the trip.

ELECTION REACTIONS

The U.S. presidential election looms large in the economic picture, Mr. Morse declared, and there was no doubt that most observers expected some inflationary reactions from the economic platforms of either candidate.

"I hope it doesn't reach Canada," Mr. Morse said, "since inflation has been pretty well curbed in the past few months."

The IDAC president believed that in the six months ahead interest rates would remain reasonably close to their present levels. Demand for capital had not been as great this year as last and this was particularly true for the federal government. However, Mr. Morse felt that the prospects were that municipal and provincial governments, faced with a backlog of public needs, would be substantial borrowers in the months ahead.

A factor which could change federal borrowing plans, Mr. Morse said, was that the gross national product predicted in Finance Minister Fleming's last budget would not be reached. The federal government could find it necessary to resort to more public financing than had been expected earlier.

Mr. Morse was confident that the country was passing through a period of business adjustment only and pointed to exports which, although fluctuating somewhat, could on balance be a solid spot in the economy.

Hard work, hard selling and fresh, creative thinking would bring about an upward move in the economy, Mr. Morse predicted.

'ONE-SHOT' PAYMENT FAVORED AS DEADLINE NEARS

Subsidy Would Avert National Rail Strike

OTTAWA (CP)—A temporary subsidy may be paid by the federal government to get the major railways off a multi-million-dollar hook and avert a possible country-wide rail strike later this year.

This was indicated Thursday night by a reliable informant as Canada's biggest single labor scrap moved relentlessly toward a mid-November crisis and an early strike deadline.

The subsidy would be a one-shot affair aimed at covering the cost of settling the railway wage dispute with 111,000 of their so-called "non-op" employees—those who do not operate trains.

It would be paid to avert a crippling strike against the railways and preserve their revenue position until a royal commission studying rail problems comes up early next spring with what is expected to be a long-term solution.

It is understood the government favors the subsidy idea over special legislation that would impose compulsory arbitration on the dispute—an unpalatable solution in the eyes of Canada's labor movement.

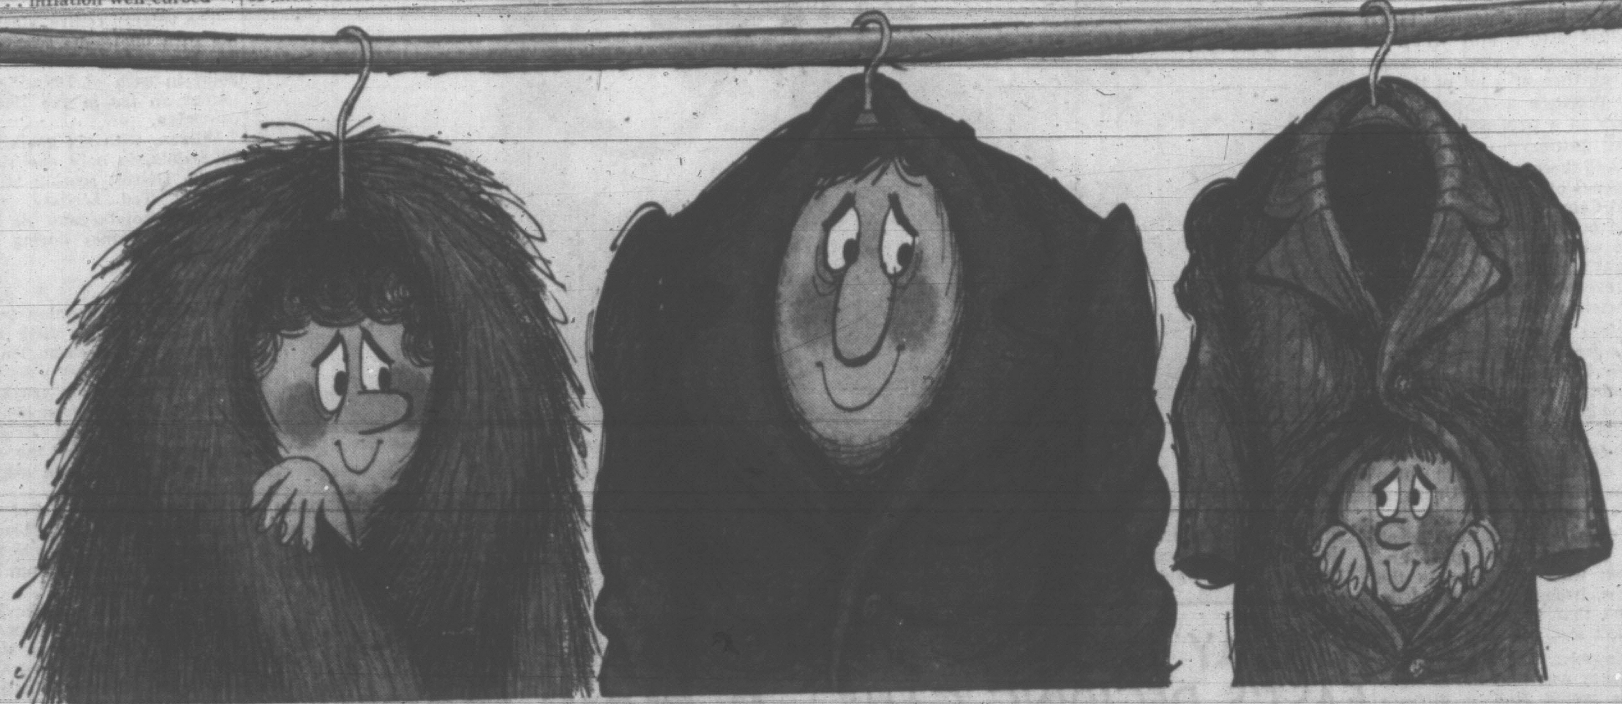

A federal conciliation board, headed by Mr. Justice J. V. H. Milvain of Calgary, recommended a three-stage wage settlement over a two-year contract ending in 1961. It provided for a two-cent hourly boost retroactive to last Jan. 1, plus five cents an hour from Sept. 1, and four per cent next May 1.

This was accepted by the 15-union "non-op" negotiating team headed by Frank H. Hall of Montreal, but flatly rejected by the CPR and CNR.

The railways claimed their employees were already well paid in comparison with similar workers in outside industry. The unions promptly began polling their members to get authority for a strike. The votes are to be returned by next Tuesday.

Keys Keeps Calm

CALGARY (CP)—Calm and cautious people like Eagle Keys and Steve Owen know that it takes a mixture of a lot of things to produce a 23-point victory in a professional football game.

And therefore the respective coaches of Edmonton Eskimos and Calgary Stampeders—who had briefly thrown caution to the winds prior to Wednesday night's meeting of their clubs—reversed their fields in post-mortem analysis Thursday.

Keys allowed that his team was great in defeating Calgary 30-7. But he said the Eskimos would have to play "another good game" or the Stampeders could come back to win the two-game total-point series and go on to the Western Interprovincial Football Union finals against Winnipeg.

Owen, who like Keys boasted of his club's spirit and great workouts prior to the game, hedged a little and decided that at least the team hadn't lost yet.

However, the consensus in Calgary was that the Stampeders would find it difficult even to win the second game if the Eskimos came close to emulating their sparkling drive of Wednesday night. And a victory by more than three converted touchdowns was even less probable.

INJURIES ADD TO WOES
Late injury reports Thursday didn't add much color to the Stampeders picture. Although tackle George Hansen was pronounced fit for action after examination of a bruised leg, doctors said glue-fingered end Ernie Warlick would not be able to play, and the other starting end, Bill McKenna, was doubtful.

Warlick aggravated a partial shoulder separation and McKenna injured an ankle.

Halfback Ron Morris, a standout in Calgary's march to the playoffs, was to spend Thursday night in hospital for observation. He reported suffering dizzy spells after making a jarring tackle in Edmonton.

Fullback Normie Kwong was the only Eskimo casualty, and a pulled muscle in his chest may still allow him to play.

DIDN'T HE RECOGNIZE THE MUSCLES?

LAS VEGAS, Nov. (AP)—Famed swimmer Johnny Weissmuller was about to take an early morning dip in a hotel's swimming pool.

A custodian waved him back saying, "You can't swim without a lifeguard on duty."

"Don't you know who I am?" demanded Weissmuller.

"No," said the guard, unimpressed. "Who are you?"

"I'm the new lifeguard," said Johnny, and jumped in the water.

Blanket Finishes Stirring Interest

If close games help stir up interest, then this could be the year of the big revival in basketball.

Most encouraging signs are being transmitted by the Victoria Senior B Men's League, where all games so far this season have been decided by no more than two or three points.

The "B" boys go back into action Saturday night at the Mount View High gym. Morgan's Aces and Halfway House meet in the featured game at 9 p.m. Opening half of the doubleheader matches. Oak Bay Optimists and Chinese Students of the Junior Men's League at 2:30. Even in exhibitions, they still like to make them close.

Victoria College Vikings got started on the exhibition trail Thursday with a 59-53 victory over Halfways.

Darrell Lorimer led the students with 17 points. John Devline had 12 points for Halfway.

Halfway House—Gordie Jones 8, Joe Peterson 3, John Devlin 12, Chuck Bennett, Bob Tomlinson 7, Jerry Youles 7, Leroy Ross 2, Don Strank 2, Malcolm Mitchell 2, Dave Price, George Denison 8. Total—52.

Vikings—Darrell Lorimer 17, Elmer Littleton 6, Peter Kerr 7, Maury Turner, Brian Raitley 8, Rick Blake 3, Tom Wyatt 10, Barry Sadler 3, Darrell McIntyre, George Price 2. Total—59.

KRAMER BACK AS PRESIDENT ...

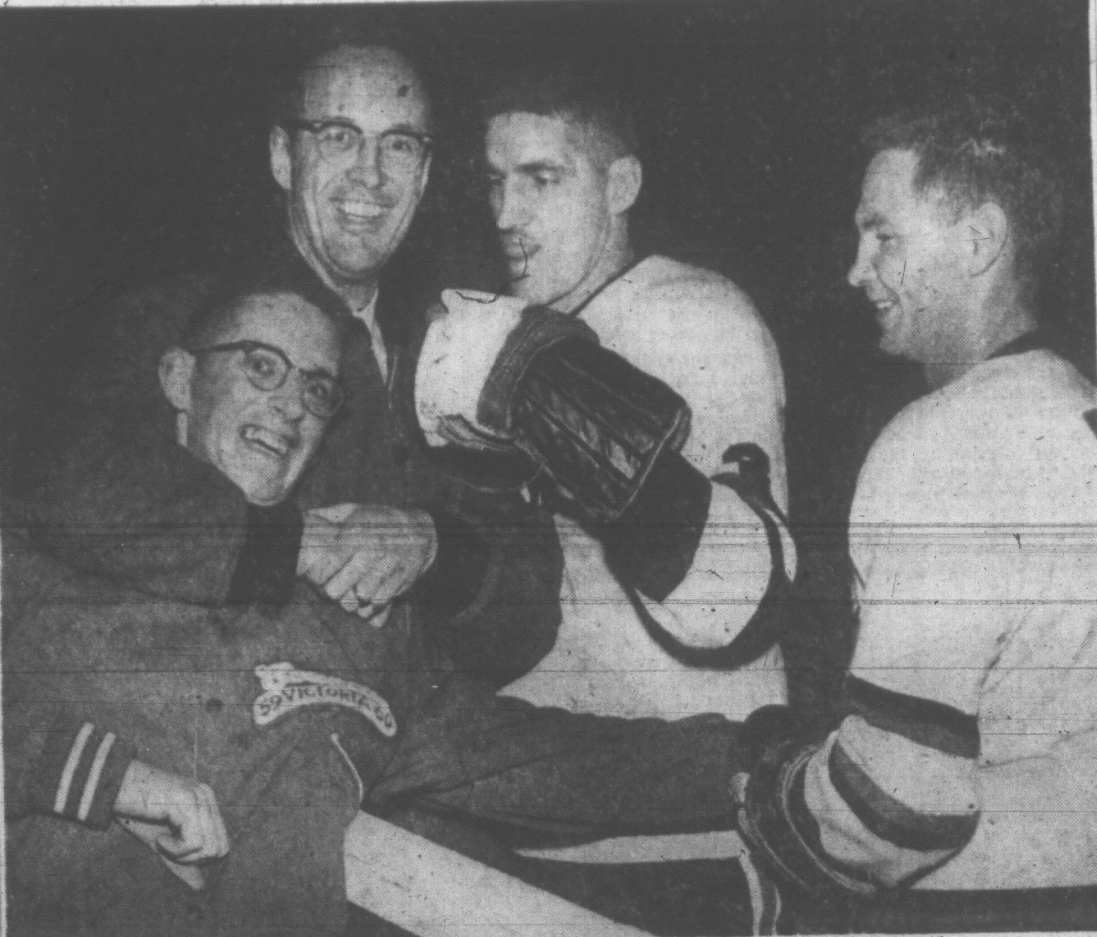

Riders Need Aid to Stay Alive

REGINA — Bob Kramer's sweep into power as president of the Western Interprovincial Football Union's Saskatchewan Roughriders, is underscored by the fact that he will be given a free hand in operating the club next season.

Persons close to the football scene here say Kramer rode into office on his terms—he will look after next season's club debt in return for a free hand in the team's operations.

It is expected he will operate the club with the aid of a small, hand-picked executive of probably not more than three or four men.

The wealthy Regina businessman has had previous experience as Roughriders president. He guided the team during the early 1950's and was mainly responsible for making it a league power. He enticed such past stars as Glenn Dobbs, Martin Ruby, Frank Tripucka, Mac Speedie, and Ken Carpenter. Carpenter resigned Tuesday as coach of the club.

JUST A FRIENDLY RECEPTION

"Make it look friendly," pleaded the photographer, but light-hearted Buckaroos from Portland overdid it during workout at Memorial Arena Thursday. Renewing acquaintances with Victoria Cougar trainer Dave Parker (object of affection) are,

SUNDAY SHOWING FOR EAST'S DECIDING GAME

TORONTO (CP)—The CBC announced Thursday night the second and deciding game of the Big Four Football League finals has been rescheduled to Sunday, Nov. 20 instead of Nov. 19.

The game, which will start at 10:30 a.m., PST, will be telecast on the CBC network.

The schedule drawn up by the league during the season called for a Saturday game. But when Toronto finished first, the Argonauts decided they would prefer the game on a Sunday. Since a TV contract was involved, the CBC had the last say on the scheduling.

The decision involved a reversal of the CBC's stand on the playoff date. A week ago, a spokesman said the CBC would not agree to moving the game to Sunday.

The game, to be played in Toronto, will be the final contest of a home-and-home, total-point series. The first game will be played Nov. 12 in either Montreal or Ottawa, depending on which team wins the sudden-death semifinal this Saturday in Ottawa.

Als Counting On Stronger Defence

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal downed and set a league record of 287 yards tugging the ball against the Ottawa Rough Riders in a 51-21 win for Ottawa. Meanwhile, in Ottawa, coach new defensive wrinkles to the Rough Riders. Frank Clair has announced a spring against the Rough Riders. Ron Lancaster will start at Stewart in particular for Saturday's game.

League semifinal.

Coach Perry Moss of the Als, interviewed Thursday, declined to disclose just what his club had in store for the Ottawa attack but he said the defensive tactics will be "varied and new."

It was believed the Als would either try to storm the Ottawa backfield with line-backers or shift the defensive halfbacks to bolster the corner line-backers on Ottawa's rushing plays.

Stewart gets off his best runs around the ends, evading the corner man to burst into the clear in the secondary. The last time the two clubs met, Stewart scored four touchdowns.

Bert's One To Watch At Tourney

Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club will host the fifth annual Invitational Badminton Tournament at the Amphion Street hall this weekend.

Top players from the Pacific Northwest will participate in open play starting 11 a.m. Saturday.

B.C. champion Bert Ferguson will be fighting to gain the singles crown against fellow Vancouver players Bill Bonney and Wayne MacDonnell.

Ten top Seattle players will also be on hand to try to take Canadian silver back to the United States.

Division "B" players, both local and out of town, must be ready to play at 8 p.m. Friday.

BOOSTERS MEET

A meeting of the Victoria Cougar Booster Club will be held Monday at 8 p.m. at 1839 Carnarvon Street.

UNDER OWN TERMS

Riders Need Aid to Stay Alive

The club finished the 1960 season about $72,000 in debt and this will eat up most of its reserve fund. Kramer is expected to seek more money from the league's gate equalization plan during the league meeting at Vancouver during Grey Cup Week.

Roughriders now get 25 cents for every dollar they are under the league average gate and stand to pick up about $40,000 under the plan this year. However, it is expected they will seek a straight 40-40 split in future seasons.

The Roughriders have indicated that they will drop out of the league unless they receive a better financial deal.

B.C. Lions, the league's wealthiest club in terms of attendance receipts, also are expected to dip into reserve funds to meet 1960 expenditures. Attendance at 1960 Lions home games totalled 223,778, down 20,000 from 1959, as the most valuable lineman in the Western Interprovincial Football Union, Tony Pajac, was lost to the CFL.

A loss, of course, won't help the Roughriders bid for more Calgary Stampeders, was second in the balloting.

OLD PALS BACK

A New Item? Try Hal's Hat!

If Hal Laycoe steps into the wrong players' box tonight, forget it.

Or if some of the players wind up with the idea that it's just another Cougar intra-squad game, you can hardly blame them.

OLD PALS BACK

A New Item? Try Hal's Hat!

If Hal Laycoe steps into the wrong players' box tonight, forget it.

Or if some of the players wind up with the idea that it's just another Cougar intra-squad game, you can hardly blame them.

Indeed, it would appear that tonight's Western Hockey League attraction at Memorial Arena is going to resemble "an old home week" gathering.

Wearing the white sweaters will be Portland Buckaroos. Scrimmaging with the reds will be the Cougars. Now if you think you're going to forget, buy a program.

WHO NEEDS ONE?

Actually, this would seem to be a poor night for program sales. The folks are getting to know "our side" and most of them are still very much acquainted with "the other people".

There is, for example, Mr. Hal Laycoe. He opens and closes the doors for the visiting Buckaroos. Mr. Laycoe is used to hang his hat in the Cougar offices, last year.

Now, Mr. Laycoe has a shiny new peg on which he can hang his new hat. It's not that he throws hats on the ice any more, but if you have a new peg and a new ice palace in which to work, you might as well go whole hog.

Thus, the new hat.

NOT NEW

As far as Portland is concerned, it's a new team. With the Victoria customers, it ain't.

Jack Bionda, Ron Matthews, Gord Haworth, Art Jones, Gord Fashaway and Arnie Schmautz all tolled with Mr. Laycoe on Victoria's behalf last season. And Bill Davidson, still a smoothie on the blue line, is another old favorite of Cougar fans.

Tonight's game, which starts at 9 p.m., marks Davidson's debut as a Buckaroo. Portland purchased the veteran defenceman last week from Seattle Totems.

So what else is new? Well, besides Portland's new rink, this much news came out of the various camps:

GOODWIN OPERATED ON

Air Goodwin, another ex-Cougar who suffered torn knee ligaments during a game in Edmonton, underwent an operation in Portland Thursday. He'll be sidelined for about eight weeks.

Cougar coach George Agar will stick to the same lineup he used in defeating Calgary 4-3 in overtime Tuesday with one exception . . . Jim Morrow will return to action in place of Pat Ginnell.

CONDITION GOOD

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The condition of football star Mike McKeever of Southern California showed continued improvement Thursday following brain surgery two nights ago.

Cedars of Lebanon Hospital boosted his condition from satisfactory to good. Two blood clots on the right side of the brain were removed in the operation.

Rigney Top Lineman

REGINA (CP)—Tackle Frank Rigney of Winnipeg Blue Bombers has been awarded the Becket-Demarc trophy as the most valuable lineman in the Western Interprovincial Football Union. Tony Pajac, a Canadian guard with the Calgary Stampeders, was second in the balloting.

Quiet One's Play Louder Than Talk

Ullman Collects 100th NHL Goal; Beliveau Shines

Norm Ullman, the "quiet man" of Detroit Red Wings, lets his National Hockey League play do his talking.

Right now, he's a chatter-box.

The veteran centre, starting his fifth big-league season at 24, has scored at least one point in each of Detroit's 12 games so far in the 1960-61 campaign.

Ullman, with six goals and 12 assists, is only one point of the Detroit-scoring string set by Ted Lindsay, who scored a point-a-game or better in 13 games during the 1956-57 season.

100TH GOAL

The starry Edmonton product picked up his fifth and six goals of the season Thursday night. And they were big ones. In addition to sparking Detroit's 8-5 come-from-behind victory over Boston Bruins, his second counter of the evening was his 100th in league play.

Wings, showing some of the explosive power of former years, scored six times in the final period to come from behind a 5-2 deficit.

Gerry Melynk, another Edmonton native, also scored two goals while Parker MacDonald, Al Johnson, Gary Aldcorn and Warren Godfrey added singles.

Jim Bartlett scored twice and Gerry Ouellette, Don McKenney and Charlie Burns once each for Boston.

HABS CLICK

In the night's other game, Montreal Canadiens downed Toronto Maple Leafs 3-1.

And while the Leafs may have looked bad in this one, their assistant general manager looked good.

King Clancy, of the Leafs, said before Thursday's game that Canadiens' Jean Beliveau was "the only guy who hasn't been playing up to his potential" this season.

"He'll start driving one of these nights—I hope it isn't tonight—and the whole team will start rolling."

Clancy was right on both counts. Beliveau started driving, scoring all three goals for Canadiens.

The starry centre's display put his team at the top of the standings, one point ahead of Chicago Black Hawks.

SPOILS SHUTOUT

Toronto rookie Bob Nevin averted a shutout by notching Leafs' only goal at 15:11 of the third period.

Beliveau, who has a reputation of being a "sleeper" until halfway through the season, has scored eight goals in 13 games this schedule for an average of 616 a game.

If he continued scoring at this rate he would chalk up 43 goals in 70 games—if he completes the regular league schedule.

This would be four goals less than his best season, in 1955-1956. If he improves in the latter part of the season he tackles Naval Technical Ap. would need only seven more prentices and Oak Bay Whites goals to equal Maurice go to Royal Roads. All games (Rocket) Richard's season record of 50.

Kickers' Top Booter Aims for Point Lead

Tim Walker still holds the Victoria and District Football League scoring lead but his grip appears shaky.

The Evcoes star was held to one goal last weekend but Volker Stoldt of Kickers put five in the net to come within one of Walker's total of 14.

Stoldt will have a golden opportunity to take over the top spot Sunday when his team meets Ladysmith at Heywood Park. Walker won't be able to add to his total since Evcoes are idle this week.

Sanich Thistles meet Victoria Wests at Royal Athletic Park in the only game Saturday.

PEG SHARES FIRST

Leaders Keep Fans Guessing

WINNIPEG (CP)—The question most people around the Western Hockey League are asking these days is—who is in first place and how did they get there?

Winnipeg Warriors moved into a first-place tie with Edmonton Flyers Thursday night, whipping the Flyers 7-1 in Winnipeg.

The two Prairie clubs hold a two-point margin over Seattle Totems, Vancouver Canucks and Victoria Cougars, all tied for second place.

Despite the fact these clubs have played fewer games than either the Warriors or the Flyers, they can be excused if they wonder why they are not on top.

All have been able to count more goals against their opponents, while both the Flyers and Warriors show a deficit in this department.

The situation may resolve itself this weekend.

LEADERS CLASH AGAIN

Flyers and Warriors meet tonight—for the fourth consecutive time—in Edmonton, with Vancouver playing Calgary and Portland visiting Victoria.

Calgary visits Seattle Saturday with Vancouver at Spokane. On Sunday, Portland plays at Seattle.

Canucks, who have dropped two straight after winning their first five games, will try veteran Larry Popen at centre and veteran Ray Nikulan replaces rookie George Wood in goal.

Roger Christian, who was a standout with the United States hockey team at the 1960 Winter Olympics, will be in Seattle's lineup this weekend. He was signed by Seattle on Wednesday.

FACED BY MICKOSKI

In Thursday's action, veteran Nick Mickoski led the Winnipeg attack, scoring two goals.

Other Winnipeg scorers were Howie Hughes, Barrie Ross, Lorne Davis, Gordie Redahl and Ray Brunel. Rookie Bruce MacGregor got Edmonton's lone tally.

The teams were tied at 1-1 after the first period, but the Warriors fired four unanswered goals in the second and added two in the third.

Dennis Rigin in the Edmonton nets was called on to make 43 saves, while Harry Lumley had to make only 17 for Winnipeg.

Singers, Chefs, Rubes and Reeve — They're All Set

VANCOUVER (CP) — There's a move to invite Ted Reeve to return briefly to the playing field.

Chef Pierre Laracine has planned his menu for 650 guests at $10 a plate.

Singer Jimmy Rogers has signed to entertain while nine beauty queens from across the country compete.

Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes has agreed to take the march-past salute.

Hotel and motel reservations are at a premium. Decorations are drawn and ready.

And Vancouver's notorious rubes band is rehearsing.

All of which is to say this west coast city is nearly ready for its third Grey Cup festival, centred around the Nov. 26 East-West football final scheduled at 1:30 p.m. PST in Empire Stadium.

The games combatants haven't been decided yet, but just about everything else is settled.

Reeve, a Toronto Telegram sports columnist who was one of Canada's outstanding football players and coaches in his youth, has been suggested by the Grey Cup festival committee as the man to handle formal opening kickoff chores at the game.

He'll be invited if football commissioner Syd Halter approves.

Chef Laracine, Rodgers, Gen. Pearkes and the rubes band are all a part of the planned pre-game festivities that have become a tradition with the football final since Calgarians invaded Toronto en masse in 1948 to watch their Stampede win the cup.

The chef has made plans for the Grey Cup dinner, staged on the eve of the big game with proceeds going to an injured players trust fund.

Among his patrons will be Forest Evashevski, head football coach at the University of Iowa, who is guest speaker.

A Serenade for Nine Beauties

Rodgers has been hired to entertain at the Miss Grey Cup contest and dance, where 2,500 or more persons are expected to see one of the nine girls representing all of Canada's major football teams chosen as queen of the gridiron classic.

Gen. Pearkes will be on the saluting stand when the Grey Cup parade, which already has more than 70 units including 30 floats and 30 bands entered, goes past on the morning of the game.

Decorations will start going up in stores and on downtown streets Sunday and Monday prior to the Saturday afternoon game and some private functions held in conjunction with the festival will be under way as early as Thursday.

Festival committee chairman Jack Bain estimates 10,000 persons—half of them from outside British Columbia—will come to town during the week, spending an average of $100 apiece and leaving about $1,000,000 behind them.

There'll be more room to sit and less room for shenanigans for the fans at this year's Grey Cup.

Officials have announced more than 4,000 extra seats will be added in Empire Stadium to the 34,194 available in 1958.

There'll be no change in the ticket allotment. Seventy-five per cent will go to the west, as the host league, and 25 per cent to the east.

Vancouver's share as host city will be about 12,000 seats, plus those that are returned by the eastern teams.

CAN WE ASSUME TRACK RECORD STILL STANDS?

PARIS (AP)—For a time it looked like no one would win the Prix de France Steeplechase for gentlemen jockeys Thursday.

There were only four horses in the 4,000-metre race at the tough Auteuil track.

Passing the stands, Tyrolien II went down, throwing jockey Daniel Moulin at the water jump.

Approaching the rail, ditch and fence obstacle, the three remaining horses balked.

The three jockeys turned and tried again. Again the horses—El Rey, Manolo and Saint Eloi—refused to take the jump. Six times they tried. Six times the horses balked.

Finally, jockey Moulin shook himself, caught Tyrolien II and remounted.

The crowd cheered as Tyrolien II cleared the rail, ditch and fence and scampered home alone. The other three jockeys gave up and guided their mounts back to the stables.

Tight Race Predicted For School Hoop Title

By RON SUDLOW

Feature attraction on the inter-high sports scene — basketball — will commence at Mount View and Victoria High gyms tonight. But it is almost impossible to forecast a winner. No one school can be taken lightly this year.

Victoria High, city champs last year, are again under the capable direction of George (Porky) Andrews and the Totems rate a good chance to repeat this year.

Although Andrews will miss Hart, Hobbis and Balloch, he will have Ollie Goldsmith, Bob Harris, Ken Gregory, Dennis Tassar, and Mike Gallo, who are back from last season's squad.

A promising new face with the Totems is John Wallace who played with the Junior Totems last year.

CONTESTERS

Oak Bay should provide most of the opposition to Vic High as they have a very solid club again this year. Returnees from last season are Mike Cranston, John Fraser, Barry Entwistle, Murray Johnston, and J. J. Camp. The Bays have two excellent rookies in Doug Richardson and Gordon Detwiler.

Esquimalt has Bruce Mitchell back for another year and he will be carrying most of the scoring load.

Along with Mitchell are Gordon Barefoot, a steady performer last season, and two cagers who have shown a marked improvement are Richard Tschirter and Pat Good.

New additions to the Esquimalt lineup are Noel Pumfrey, Jack Newnam and Bob Orellin.

Belmont appears to be quite well-off although they have lost Bill Spotswood and Wayne Allan. The latter was injured in a motorcycle accident and will not be in action until after Christmas. Belmont's big guns are expected to be Rod Kilduff and Russ Rhode.

Mount View's new coach, Austin Cullin, received a choice fruit from Penticton in Rick Skermer who is six feet five inches and weighs 210 pounds.

A good deal of the Mount View attack will be built around Skermer as the Hornets lost four regulars through graduation.

Del Clarke, who can be counted on for a steady performance, and Bill Munro are the only two Mount View returnees.

Royal Oak is possibly the most improved team in the loop this year. The two mainstays, Jim Cunningham and Les Underwood, are back and Terry Scott will add more to their scoring punch. Royal Oak clobbered North Saanich, 84-23, and edged Belmont in pre-season exhibition games.

For St. Louis College and North Saanich there is no host club.

place to go except up. St. Louis rates the better chance as they have Jim Hoffman, Jim Walters and Richard Auclair—a high-scoring trio—and highly-touted rookies, Barry Maloney and Ed Tomczyk.

Most observers are looking forward to an interesting season, liberally sprinkled with upsets and surprises.

Tonight's action will see one game in Vic High and two at Mount View. Totems play at Mount View, Oak Bay faces St. Louis.

For St. Louis College and North Saanich there is no host club.

NEGRO STARS FINED

It Didn't Take Long To Spend Series' Cut

NEW YORK (AP) — When Hank Aaron of Milwaukee Braves gets through paying his fine for running out on a contract to barnstorm, he will have $527.75 left from his second-place share of the World Series spoils.

Maurie Wills and Charley Neal of Los Angeles Dodgers will each have $1.58 remaining from their fourth-place cut.

All three were fined by baseball commissioner Ford Frick this week for failure to play for a touring all-star team.

Aaron, the Braves' slugging outfielder, was assessed $1,000 and the Dodger infielders were tagged for $500 apiece. Aaron and the other Milwaukee regulars received $1,527,750 for their series cut. Los Angeles regulars got $501.58.

"The fine is tough to take," said Aaron. "I've had a bad back for a long while and just couldn't play. I turned in a medical report (to Frick) and that's all I could do."

Aaron's fine was double that of Neal's and Wills' because it was his second offence. The commissioner fined him $500 last year for quitting a post-season barnstorming tour.

The tour involves two Negro teams travelling in the south-

New fares on all TCA routes in North America

Long-Distance Fares Reduced—Some Increases on Shorter Routes

Extension of Economy Class Service to all North American Routes

New Excursion Fares Lowest on Continent—More Generous Free Baggage Allowances

From January the 2nd, the fare between any two cities on TCA's North American routes will be more closely related to actual operating costs.

In most cases fares on non-stop routes of more than 600 miles will now be reduced. On the other hand, on most flights of less than 400 miles the fares will be somewhat increased.

This new fare structure means that the economies of long-haul routes will be passed on to passengers travelling longer distances, while short-haul routes will come closer to paying their own way.

TCA's new rates per mile of travel are similar to or lower than the rates charged over corresponding distances in the United States. These new fares will result in a decrease in revenue per passenger per mile for TCA's North American services.

Contrary to practice elsewhere on the Continent, there will be no charge for en route stopovers. First Class round-trip discounts will be eliminated, as in the United States.

Economy Class Service on all TCA Routes

To offer the lowest-cost air transportation to as many travellers as desire it, Economy Class services (formerly called Tourist) will now become available for the first time at all points served by TCA.

Since demand for low-cost travel is constantly growing, TCA is creating the highest ratio of low-priced seats to First Class seats of any airline in North America; 2 out of every 3 TCA seats will be Economy Class.

Economy Class service will be available on TCA's turbine-powered fleet of VISCOUNTS, DC-8's, and the new VANGUARDS to go into service in early 1961. On some shorter routes (such as between Calgary and Edmonton and in the Northern Ontario and Great Lakes areas), all services provided will be by Turbo-Prop. Economy Class VISCOUNTS. Economy Class passengers on practically all aircraft will be served hot meals, and there will be at least two stewardesses to ensure a high standard of cabin service and comfort.

New Low Excursion Fares in Canada

For as low as 1½ times the price of the new Economy one-way fare, TCA now offers seasonal round-trip Excursion air travel on certain days of the week on most routes.

These Excursion Fares are up to 25% lower than even the standard Economy fares. They are valid on a 23-day Weekend travel or a 24-day Weekday travel return basis in Canada only, during eight months of the year between October 1st and May 31st. With these Excursion fares, TCA is leading the way in offering the lowest-cost air travel of any scheduled airline in North America.

Example: The new TCA DC-8 Jetliner Round-Trip Excursion Fare Montreal-Vancouver (a distance of 2,360 miles) will be $182. By comparison, the present lowest U.S. round-trip jet fare between New York and Seattle—a comparable distance—is $277.20, including the jet surcharge plus transportation tax, neither of which applies on TCA services.

Free Baggage Allowance best in North America

The weight of baggage carried free for Economy Class passengers will be increased from 40 to 44 lbs., while First Class passengers will be allowed 66 lbs. instead of 40 lbs. on all routes within Canada flown by TCA. For the first time in airline history, domestic free baggage allowance is now brought to the same level as on overseas routes. Within North America, only TCA has proposed these improved allowances; they presently do not apply on connecting services by other airlines.

Excess baggage charges for all passengers—both First Class and Economy—are reduced to ½ of 1% of the applicable Economy fare per pound.

TCA passengers will thus have the most generous free baggage allowance and the lowest excess baggage rates in North America.

Fares quoted are in some cases a combination, depending on classes of service and/or fares available on certain routes.

The following examples show how the new fares compare to the figures presently in force. They show round-trip fares from Victoria to the cities listed. The Excursion Economy fares are particularly interesting.

Big Boat Basin Plans

Victoria Daily Times FRIDAY, NOV. 4, 1960

PARKSVILLE—A $400,000 expansion program for French Creek boat basin is under consideration by the Treasury Board at Ottawa, according to Harry C. McQuillan, Comox-Alberni MP.

In a letter to Dr. Graham Pettipiece, president of Parksville and District Chamber of Commerce, Mr. McQuillan said that with an estimate going to the treasury board, there is "a strong possibility of having this work carried out next year."

Suggested plan for the basin involves removing the existing north breakwater, built of rock, and construction of a new 600-foot breakwater.

DREDGED

Entrance to the basin would be widened and dredged to a depth of 10 feet below low water, and floats would be extended.

Objective of the chamber is to have a harbor which would be usable at all tides and able to accommodate all craft requiring moorage there.

PROTECTED

The basin, about midway between Parksville and Qualicum Beach, provides the only fully-protected mooring on the 28-mile stretch of shore between Deep Bay on the north and Nanossee to the south.

NEW SHOP CENTRE NEXT YEAR

(From Duncan Bureau) A new shopping development on Trunk Road, Duncan, west of the Canada Safeway store, is due for a start next year, it was learned today.

Capital Holdings Ltd., Vancouver, leased 1.3 acres of Indian land last year for the project. The development calls for construction of up to 15 store units.

ISLAND DIGEST

'MOUNT McKELVIE' WINS BACKING

(From Duncan Bureau)

COBBLE HILL — Development of a park near here in memory of the late Bruce McKelvie, well-known newspaperman, historian and local resident, has won the support of several district groups.

Backing it are Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association, Cobble Hill Ratepayers' Association and Cobble Hill Trail Riders.

Recreation and Conservation Minister Earle Westwood has shown interest and promised to send representatives from his department to check the possibilities of the proposal.

It was put forward by George Bonner, C. R. Eldred and Steve Dougan, all local residents and friends of Mr. McKelvie, who suggest developing hiking and riding trails and campsites around what is now called Cobble Hill Mountain.

FINE VIEW

Directly west of the village, the mountain rises to the 1,100-foot level and from its three peaks affords one of the finest views to be found anywhere on the island.

View to the south is of the Shawnigan-Malahat area; to the west the Koksilah Valley and Range; northwest to Lake Cowichan, all of Duncan, Ladysmith and Nanaimo; and to the east Mount Baker and the Gulf Islands.

"HAS EVERYTHING" "Potential for park development is unlimited, according to one of the project proposers, long-time Cobble Hill resident and island booster George Bonner."

"The location has everything. Close to the highway, wonderful view, ideal for camping, hiking and riding. A natural tourist attraction."

Mr. Bonner said unusual rock formations at the summit of the mountain would prove interesting to "rockhounds."

'Ambiguous Law Endangering School Children'

(From Duncan Bureau)

Cowichan District 65 School Board will seek clarification of a contentious section of the Motor Vehicle Act dealing with traffic and school buses.

Under an amendment to the act passed earlier this year, only drivers of vehicles on highways outside business or residential districts are required to come to a full stop behind school buses loading or discharging.

Trustees said all traffic in all areas should be required to stop behind school buses loading or discharging children. They want the section referring to "outside business or residence districts" more clearly defined.

HARD TO ENFORCE

School inspector A. D. Jones told the board Thursday night that because of the ambiguous wording, the regulation is hard to enforce in built-up areas. RCMP are "trying to pin it down" and are seeking a clearer interpretation, he said.

Mr. Jones said children, thinking that cars are supposed to stop behind their buses, have become somewhat careless in disembarking. Some of them, he said, have forgotten safety first practices they have been taught.

Because many schools, including those in the Cowichan district, are on highways or near business or residential districts, he said a serious accident might occur unless the amendment is clearly defined, the intent made clear and enforcement made possible.

BIG SIGNS

Trustee Wilf Peck said that the superintendent of motor vehicles should be asked "to come up with something more suitable."

A suggestion that British Columbia follow the lead of other provinces and erect large signs warning all traffic it must stop behind school buses was made by Trustee Pat Mason.

Scout Official To Speak At Chemainus

CHEMAINUS — J. L. Dampier, assistant publisher of the Vancouver Sun and vice-chairman of the provincial council of the Boy Scout Association, will be guest speaker Saturday at the annual meeting of Mt. Brenton Boy Scout District.

Subject of his talk will be "Regionalization of Scouting in B.C."

Annual meeting will be held in the United Church Hall here at 6:30 p.m. Business will include the election of the district council for the ensuing year.

FDR's Son Wed At Qualicum

QUALICUM BEACH — Elliott Roosevelt, second son of the late President Roosevelt, was married here this week for the fifth time.

The bride was Patricia Peabody Whitehead, daughter of John Folger Peabody, traffic manager for Black Ball Ferry Lines.

Rev. Robert Moses of St. Stephen's United Church performed the ceremony Tuesday evening at Eagle Crest Lodge. Only close friends and relatives attended the ceremony and wedding supper.

Mrs. Roosevelt was a former Seattle Junior League member and only recently was divorced from Milton Whitehead, a Phoenix, Ariz., real estate dealer.

In 1951 Queen Elizabeth, then Princess, and Prince Philip stayed at Eagle Crest for several days during their tour of Canada.

Meetings Called On School Bylaw

LAKE COWICHAN — District 66 School Board will hold public meetings here Nov. 8 and at Youbou Nov. 15 to outline details of the school building by-law referendum to go before ratepayers Nov. 19.

The $402,629 bylaw will provide for the developing of new school sites, construction and equipping of new schools.

Trustee Vote

DUNCAN — Nomination day in School District 65 this year is Nov. 28, and election day is Dec. 10.

Polls this year will be open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

There will be two vacancies on the school board, as the terms of Trustees Wilf Peck and Pat Mason expire next month.

Heavy Anti-Catholic Vote Would Hurt Protestantism

NEW YORK (UPI) — A group of top Protestant clergymen warned today that if anti-Catholic votes decided the U.S. presidential election, the American way of life would be injured and protestantism itself would suffer.

The clergyman issued a statement saying that the "traditional" view of the Roman Catholic church toward church-state relations should not be automatically attributed to Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee and a Catholic.

The statement was signed by 11 clergymen whose names were enlisted by Dean John C. Bennett of Union Theological Seminary and the Rt. Rev. James A. Pike, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of California. It was released Thursday night.

The clergyman said they were pleased that Reformation Sunday on Oct. 30 failed to produce as much anti-Catholic preaching in Protestant pulpits as has been feared.

"But we remain concerned," they said, "because there is a widespread feeling that it would be dangerous to American institutions if any Roman Catholic should be elected president."

"We feel bound to warn against the grave injury to our national life if it becomes established that a member of the Roman Catholic minority is automatically excluded from the presidency. As Protestants we fear that Protestantism will be narrowed and embittered insofar as it becomes identified with political anti-Catholicism," the statement added.

"We hope that no citizen will cast his vote next Tuesday solely because he is for or against a particular church," the clergymen added.

Theft of Guns By 'Moving Man' Draws Jail Term

Twenty-three-year-old Peter M. Larsen, Vancouver, was sentenced in city police court Thursday to three months in jail for stealing two pistols from the property of Victoria and Saanich residents he was helping to move.

Thefts took place about three months apart while Larsen was employed by a local moving firm, and both were British revolvers of the same make.

Magistrate William Ostler said before sentencing Larsen he had the Saanich police court charge in mind as well as the city charge.

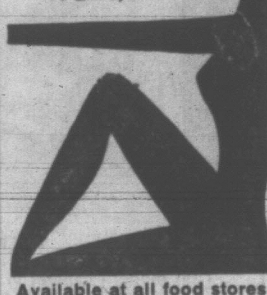

The guns were found in Larsen's car which was recovered in Courtenay the day after Larsen reported it stolen from Victoria.

"It is significant and disturbing that the items were pistols," he remarked.

From a probation report it was noted that Larsen said he intended to return the guns, but lost his nerve.

Although the accused had a previously clear record, the fact that there were two separate offences "precludes probation," Mr. Ostler said.

LONG SERVICE AWARDS FOR CIVIL SERVANTS

Twenty-five B.C. civil servants will be honored for long service at a ceremony in Victoria Nov. 16.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett and members of the cabinet will attend the luncheon at 12.15 p.m. in the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Bennett will present certificates to government employees who completed 25 years service to the end of April this year.

WAS AERONAUTICS BOARD INFLUENCED?

Nixon Loan to Come Under Scrutiny

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House investigators plan to look into charges that the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) was influenced by a $205,000 loan made to Vice-President Richard M. Nixon's brother Donald.

Chairman Jack B. Brooks (Democrat, Texas) of the subcommittee said "serious allegations" had come to the panel's attention. Brooks said it had been reported that Trans World Airlines, owned by the Hughes Tool Co., was granted favorable decisions following the 1956 loan. He said indications were that the GOP presidential nominee was consulted on day. Subcommittee aide Edward C. Brooks, brother of the chairman, said work already has started on the inquiry. But he said it would be "practically impossible" to get the committee together for a hearing until after the elections next Tuesday. In a statement released in Los Angeles on Oct. 30, Donald Nixon confirmed the loan but said "I have never asked by brother to do anything for me or anyone else in the government. And if I did ask, I knew he would refuse."

LOWLY SLOUGH ON WAY TO BECOMING VALUABLE INDUSTRIAL LAND

Valuable addition to available industrial land in city is taking place in Rock Bay area as Crowe-Gonnason Ltd. proceeds with gradual filling of four-acre slough in front of their property at Government and Rock Bay, adjoining B.C. Electric gas works. When fill is completed, total of 11 acres of valuable land will be ready for development. Most popular suggestion to date has been creation of combine heliport and bus terminal. Vancouver real estate firm has already expressed interest in developing heliport to be leased back to city or to operators of heliport service. City has reserved right of way for possible truck road connecting Store Street and Rock Bay Avenue, relieving traffic pressure on Government and Douglas. Owners have offered site for $250,000.

MONTE ROBERTS

In case it has escaped your attention, this is National Cat Week.

As far as I can figure out, National Cat Week is put on by people who are in favor of cats; just as National Doughnut Week and National Kumquat week and National Left-Handed Shortstop week are put on by people in favor of doughnuts, kumquats, and (unlikely though it may seem) left-handed shortstops.

This puts me squarely in the National Cat Week Camp, as I am currently in favor of cats.

It was not always thus. For many years, I was owned by a succession of dogs, fine fellows, all of them, and my only interest in cats was to see that no cat chased a dog the back and gone off his own property.

But due to the exigencies of city living, there came a time when I didn't have a home where a doggie could roam, and I became owned by a cat.

Being owned by a cat isn't as bad as it might appear to those who have only been owned by dogs.

It is worse. Dogs are demanding, in their ever-loving moist-eyed you-are-my-master manner.

Dogs get what they want, but they persuade you it was your idea in the first place.

Cats get what they want, period.

Which is a long-winded way of getting at the fact I am in favor of National Cat Week, but I am puzzled by same. You can nationalize coal, steel, railroads, banks, wheat, whisky, doughnuts, kumquats, and left-handed shortstops, but you can't nationalize cats.

In the National Cat Week information released by Victoria's very own Cats' Protection League, mention is made of the care and feeding of cats, of the protection of cats from cruelty, and even of controlling the surplus population of cats.

But there's no mention of the training of cats, and no directions on how to discipline a cat.

Disciplining a cat would be about as effective as suggesting to Niagara Falls that up is a much better direction than down.

That is why—while all in favor of National Cat Week—I can't see how cats can be nationalized.

Doughnuts, yes. Kumquats, yes. Left-handed shortstops, yes. But cats?

Perhaps the Cats' Protection League people have an answer. You could drop in at 1107 Douglas any day this week between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. and ask them. (Don't tell them I sent you.)

CPR VETERAN SHUNNED THEM

'How He Loathed The New Diesels'

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

A Victoria woman, Miss Julie Crawford, today recalled how her father took part in the historic ceremony which brought British Columbia into Confederation 75 years ago.

This was the driving of the last spike of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Craigellachie, west of Revelstoke in Eagle Pass on Nov. 7, 1885.

The 75th anniversary will be commemorated at the Empress Hotel next Monday when Miss Crawford will cut a large cake patterned on the cairn at Craigellachie.

Miss Crawford, who lives at 1143 Pandora, is the only surviving child of Matthew Fulton Crawford, CPR locomotive engineer who attended the spike-driving ceremony.

Mr. Crawford died in Vancouver in 1954 at the age of 92. But his daughter treasures a recorded description of the ceremony as it was told by her father to the late Bruce McKelvie of Cobble Hill.

"I have heard the story since I was a small child," said Miss Crawford, a jolly, good-humored ex-school teacher. "He was there in the early morning as the last rail lengths were being fitted together, and he looked on while Sir Donald Smith (later Lord Strathcona) drove home the plain iron spike."

"He said it was a mild November day and everyone was very excited. I can picture the scene just as my father recalled it. There were no women present—just a group of CPR officials and railroad workers."

"One man told me he was a baby at the ceremony but my father assured me there were no babies there."

"Sir Donald made a speech emphasizing that Canada now stretched from Atlantic to Pacific and would prosper as a united nation in the years ahead."

"Everyone cheered his prediction."

HOLDUP

Later in 1906 Mr. Crawford was driver of the passenger train which was held up by the Haney Brothers at Ducks, near Kamloops.

"He lived to see the new diesel locomotives on the CPR—and he loathed them," his daughter said. "In fact he hated them so much he would never travel on a train drawn by a diesel."

"When he died, the CPR laid on an old coal-burning engine to drive his body back to Kamloops for burial. It was done out of respect to a man who had given so much to the old steam railroad."

It is staffed with seven volunteers from the junior league.

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1960—PAGE 17

Chest Donations At Rock-Bottom

Victoria, one of the richest cities in Canada on a population basis, is one of the lowest in per capita Community Chest contributions.

Arena Board Will Decide On Meeting

Memorial Arena commission virtually can choose its own terms of reference for a meeting with city finance committee over recent resignations by six employees, it became clear today.

The commission was to meet tonight "to discuss the whole question of fixing a date and meeting with the city council committee," said chairman F. G. Mulliner.

Ald. Arthur Dowell, chairman of finance committee, said he would not call any meeting.

"At the present moment, I see no necessity for me calling a meeting. I have every confidence in the commission and that's all I'm going to say," he said.

REPORT ASKED

The meeting had been proposed Thursday during an off-the-record discussion between Mr. Mulliner and the finance committee when Ald. Hugh Ramsay asked for a report on the resignations.

Meanwhile, Kenneth Noakes, arena office manager who led the resignations last month, disagreed with a statement by Mr. Mulliner that the six employees did not have 34 years of collective service, full and part time, with the arena.

"I don't know where Mr. Mulliner got his information but evidently he has been misinformed. The newspaper story that we had 34 years service is correct."

WORKED FOR RINK

He said suggestions that some of the resigned employees had worked for the Cougar Hockey Club and not the arena directly were wrong.

Out of the six who resigned, only a single cashier worked for the Cougars.

"Mrs. Dorothy Bule worked for them last year but she was just on loan from us," said Mr. Noakes. "We had first call on her. If there was no work from the arena for her, she was allowed to work for the Cougar Club selling tickets."

"But she had seven years service directly with the arena until she resigned."

The campaign, which today hit $193,172 in a drive for $350,000, was to have ended today but has been extended two weeks because of the poor returns.

President of the drive, Eric Mallett, said "Victoria's prestige is at stake" in the campaign.

Figures from 1959 put Victoria at the bottom in contributions compared with most centres.

AGAIN?

There could easily be a repetition this year.

Last year per capita contributions to the Community Chest in Victoria were $2.26; Montreal was $6.78; Toronto, $6.09; Vancouver, $4.86; London, Ont., $3.95; Saskatoon, $3.82; Brantford, $3.08.

Mr. Mallett reiterated that the $350,000 was the absolute minimum needed to carry on work of the 22 member agencies.

"Budgets have been gone over with a fine-tooth comb. If they had been allowed to run the sum would be close to $500,000."

IT'S A BLOW

If this sum is not reached, "it is a direct blow at your less privileged neighbor," he said.

Most important now are returns from small businesses, and callbacks in the residential canvass.

The Chest president considered it a "possibility" the goal could be reached "if people realize how important this is."

"If the present economic system collapses, where are the complacent coupon-clippers then?"

The Chest function exemplifies the fight for democracy as opposed to government control of all agencies, he said, such as would happen under any socialistic regime.

DOOR OPEN

"We are surrounded by dictatorships and quasi-dictatorships. If we can't make a venture such as the Chest function adequately, it leaves the door open for socialistic philosophy."

Bulk of Chest contributions come from the people who "do" things, employees who feel a concern for fellow men and try their best to help.

They realize their own names could be listed for aid, just a little farther along in the book.

MRS. W. W. MCGILL ... to take "holiday"

VETERAN TRUSTEE TO QUIT

Greater Victoria School Board will have at least one new member in January, it was assured today.

Mrs. W. W. McGill, veteran member of the board, said she will not stand for re-election.

Four other members whose terms expire this year are expected to run again.

Mrs. McGill has represented the Saanich portion of School District 67 for 11 years, two of them as chairman of the board. She was appointed to the board two years ago by the minister of education after no one stood for election from Saanich.

LOADED DOWN

A vigorous campaigner for the "Save the Children Fund," she said she was loaded down with too many activities to run for trustee again.

"I want some quiet time and chance to be a listener for awhile," she said.

But after a rest, she may decide to run again "in a year or two."

Other trustees whose terms expire this year are: Mrs. E. M. Maunsell and Walter Thomson, representing Victoria; Walter Freethy, representing Oak Bay, and R. H. Reeve, representing Esquimalt.

The elections will be held Dec. 8.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Please advise in what country Einar M. Gunderson was born. H.T.

A. He was born July 6, 1899, in Cooperstown, North Dakota, of Canadian parents.

Q. Who invented the safety pin? H.H.

A. The pin as we know it was invented by Walter Hunt of New York in 1846. Actually, he reinvented it. The safety pin was known in the Mediterranean area many hundreds of years BC, but for some reason or other fell into disuse and was lost to mankind from about 500 AD until Mr. Hunt came up with his idea.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

Weatherman One Up On City Aldermen

If weatherman William MacKie wasn't a perfect gentleman he would be at City Hall today wearing a nasty grin and winking embarrassing statistics.

Last June the city public works committee complained that temperatures taken at the Gonzales weather office were lower than those prevailing elsewhere in Greater Victoria, and did not give a fair indication of the balmy summer weather here.

So—minimum temperatures in Greater Victoria—Thursday ranged between 29 degrees, in the Tillicum area, and 40 degrees at Gonzales.

"The 40-degree reading is the one sent from here as official," he said.

That made Victoria the third warmest spot in Canada during the coldest part of the day. (Its maximum temperature for the day was the fourth warmest in Canada.)

If the Tillicum minimum temperature had been cited by the Dominion weather office as official, then Victoria would have been eighth coldest spot, between Port Arthur and Kamloops.

Give Breakfasts a Lift With Tasty Newcomers

By PENNY SAVER

Your family will really sit up and take notice at breakfast-time if you serve them some of the sausages that have made their debut in town during the past three weeks.

Sausages are made by a mainland firm that uses nothing but pure meat—no fillers in these plump morsels—and all meat is finely ground. One particular feature that rated raves from my family was fact that they are not highly seasoned. Many Old Country people who have tasted them insist that they're just like ones made there "in the good old days."

Mainland firm has been in operation for seven years and, such is the quality of their product, that they've never had to advertise. One of the largest Vancouver hotels has used this particular brand exclusively ever since they've been made.

It's only during the last month that this firm has gone into the retail trade. If you're interested in getting a real taste treat you'll be delighted to know that prices are no higher than other brands. Pure pork sausages sell at 55 cents a pound, breakfast (pork and beef) sell at the same price and beef variety is priced at 49 cents a pound.

Another product that's destined to be popular with discerning housewives is the lemon butter that's made right here in Victoria. Pure butter, lemon juice, eggs, sugar and salt are used. If you're planning to surprise your youngsters with some scrumptious tarts soon or would like to try it as a spread, there's some just arrived in one downtown store. Jar containing four ounces sells at 39 cents.

If you would like to know more about these items give Penny a ring at EV 2-3131.

Differences Could Melt In Wake of Fashion Whims

LONDON (Reuters)—Female vanity is thawing the cold war, statements by three big fashion organizations suggested Tuesday.

Separate bulletins from the British fur, shoe and wool worlds gave this proof that women of East and West are sisters under and over the skin.

1. Mink from Communist China is giving many thousands of British women the chance to achieve a luxury look at budget prices.

2. Russian women have taken up excitedly the first big shipments of British fashion shoes.

3. Soviet authorities have requested that British woollens, elegant in style and texture as well as warm, be specially featured at next year's British Trade Fair in Moscow.

The fur trade information centre said there was a boom in wild mink from China, which costs only a fraction of the price of North American wild mink or ranch mink from other countries.

Russian women like British shoes although they do not want stiletto heels, the British Footwear Manufacturers Federation reports.

The International Wool Secretariat said that 10,000 different samples of British wool cloth and high-fashion garments would be shown at the Moscow Trade Fair.

DEAR ABBY

Proof of the Pudding!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was happy to see you state in your column that "writing to strangers was 'for the birds.'" At first glance you might have appeared heartless because there are so many deserving people who want pen pals. But you were right, Abby; it is much safer to develop a pen pal through a third party who knows both parties fairly well.

My sister, a widow, 53, found a "pen pal" through a magazine. Before she was through, it cost her $3,600 and attorney fees. Her "pen pal" posed as a retired farmer, widower, and church-going Lutheran. He turned out to be a married man with a long record for embezzlements, no Lutheran, and all he had was a flair for writing and a good imagination.

WITH YOU ALL THE WAY

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of five grown children. Each has made me a grandma many times. My son had four children. His wife got involved with another man (married) and bore him a child, but my son continues to live with her because of their other children. She says she is ashamed and sorry, but we are heartbroken. My problem is that my income is small. I always remember my grandchildren on Christmas and their birthdays. Should I, knowing this child is nothing to me, give him a birthday and Christmas gift?

NOT HIS GRANDMA DEAR NOT: Certainly. Why punish the child for his mother's mistake?

DEAR ABBY: My next door neighbor is the best-hearted person in the world. She's always doing something nice for people, and everyone likes her. But she can't get through two sentences without using half a dozen swear words. When she comes over I send my youngsters outside so they won't pick up any of the terrible words she uses. Some say to ignore it. Others say to tell her off. What do you say?

GOOD NEIGHBOR DEAR NEIGHBOR: Don't tell her off—tell her. A practical solution for chronic cursers is to substitute some homemade gobbledygook for some of the stronger epithets. It may not convert a mule skinner into a choir boy overnight—but it will help.

 If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. She answers ALL letters.

Fine Eating Goes With Artistic Temperament

MONTREAL (CP)—Good says, but one case was different. This was a concert for sold-out diners at the east coast of England. "It was after the frightful Dieppe show," she said, "and one look at their faces told us they needed cheering rather than entertaining on a higher level."

"We decided the ballet should do the Can-Can and we sang French-Canadian songs, including Alouette."

Mrs. Widows enjoys preparing unusual dishes, but says she will not overlook more simple fare. "English cooking, in spite of all the jokes about it, can be excellent," she said. "One of these days I'm going to make some good old-fashioned steak and kidney pies."

Before coming to Montreal with her husband, a professor, seven years ago, she sang on the BBC and appeared at Wigmore Hall in London.

A mezzo-soprano, she sang with a travelling group during the Second World War giving concerts for Allied servicemen in Britain. Usually they gave a classical program, she said.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Girl With Ash Blonde Hair Wants It Lighter

Q. "I am 12 years old and have ash blonde hair. In the summer my hair bleaches very light. This lasts until the end of September or October but no longer. Is there anything I can do to keep my hair as light as it is after summer—anything harmless?"

A. Ash blonde hair is lovely and you are lucky to have it. Evidently you like it better after the sun has made it lighter. You would be very foolish to begin using rinses at your age. I would think that a little lighter in the summer and, actually, your ash blonde hair probably is prettier with winter clothes.

Q. "I am a 29-year-old housewife. I have an olive complexion and in the last year or two I have noticed flat brown spots on my face. When I say flat I mean that when I run my finger over them I can feel them, but they appear to be flat. My mother has these, too. I have been told that they are hereditary, but also indicate lack of vitamins. Is there anything I can do about them?"

A. So far as I know, no one knows what causes brown spots, except that certain types of skin respond to direct sunlight with these. They probably can be removed. I suggest that you see a skin specialist AND you can cover them with makeup. There are special products just for such a condition.

Q. "I have quite a lot of hair on my bust. Is this natural and can anything be done about it?"

A. Many women have this.

It can be safely removed. See a skin specialist about it.

Q. "Where can I get a complete set of exercises to lose weight. I am much overweight."

A. You will have to count calories, too, although exercise will be most helpful. I will be glad to send you, or any of my readers, my short routine of exercise planned especially for womankind. It is corrective to the most usual figure faults. If you would like to have it, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 19 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Cook Meat Slowly, Expert Says

VANCOUVER (CP)—Delegates to the British Columbia Hotels Association annual meeting here were given a visual lesson Tuesday why meat should be cooked slowly and at low temperatures.

Doug Bruce, a Vancouver meat supplier, cooked two roasts of beef for the delegates, one at 200 degrees and the other at 400.

Shrinkage on the slowly cooked roast was 10 per cent while on the quick cooked roast it was 35 to 40. This, said Bruce, was a difference of six servings.

And to customer, Bruce cautioned:

"Never order steaks and roasts 'well done' when you eat out. The product is dry and tasteless."

Spanish Radish Salad

Toss two cups sliced radishes with the following salad dressing: 1/2 cup vinegar, 1/2 cup olive oil, 1/2 teaspoon salt, a sprinkling of pepper and a tablespoon of capers (these are optional). Place on shredded lettuce, garnish with strips of pimento or canned red sweet peppers.

LUCK FOR BRIDE

Silver Horseshoe Sent
By Relatives Overseas

Before Miss Selina Wildig was married in St. Mary's Anglican Church, last Saturday, her godson, Stephen Dods-worth, presented her with a silver horseshoe for good luck. The charm was sent to the bride by her nieces and nephews in England.

The groom is Allan Cracknell, of Dartmouth, N.S., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Cracknell of Toronto. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Robert C. Wildig, of Cumber-land, England, and the late Mr. Wildig.

Standard baskets of mauve and white chrysanthemums, with matching pew-markers, decorated the church for the ceremony. Canon H. J. Jones heard the wedding vows.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her uncle, A. R. C. Wildig. She wore a floor-length gown of floating nylon sheer over satin. Basque bodice had a scalloped neckline of Alencon lace sparkling with iridescent sequins. Lace was repeated on each side of the dropped waistline while the hooped skirt was enhanced with a lace panel at front and a large bow added at the back. Sleeves were lily point. From a coronet of seed pearls and iridescent sequins flamed a veil of illusion net accented with pearls. The bouquet was of white and cream roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Arthur Dods-worth, the patron of honor, and Miss Carol Turner, bridesmaid, wore matching gowns of deep mauve organza over lilac printed taffeta with accessories en tone. Their bouquets were of Johanna Hill roses.

Guybon Caws was best man and ushers were Fred Hodgkin-son and Leslie Brown.

At Holyrood House, where the reception was held, a three-tier cake was topped with pink roses and flanked by silver candelabra. Richard Little proposed the toast to the bride. The honeymoon will be spent in the United States and in Canada, visiting the groom's parents in Toronto. The bride travelled in a sage green coat with portrait collar and a fitted dressmaker's suit in burnished taupe tone. She chose a sage green hat with her brown accessories and wore a corsage of golden yellow roses. The young couple will make their home in Dartmouth.

Mainland Visit turned to Victoria after spending a week visiting her daughter, Miss Suzanne Matson, in Vancouver. During her stay, Mrs. Matson attended the two performances of the Royal Ballet Company recently presented in Vancouver and made short trips to the interior.

TAKE PRIDE IN BEING FARM WOMEN

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Too many Canadian farm women underrate themselves, Mrs. L.
G. Lymburner, president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario, said Tuesday.

"It grieves me that sometimes Canadian farm people apologize a little because they are farm people," Mrs. Lymburner told delegates to the London area convention of Women's Institutes.

"They are part of probably the most ancient and most historical profession in the world."

Mrs. Lymburner said she noticed on a recent visit to Europe that women there take pride in being women of the land.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Robertson, 2520 Woolon Crescent, wish to announce the marriage on Thursday, Nov. 10, of their eldest daughter, Arleen Heather, to Mr. Donald Albert Dent, son of Mr. Albert Dent, 1015 Falmouth Road, and Mrs. S. Cosh, Cobble Hill, B.C. The wedding will take place in Centennial United Church at 7 p.m., with Dr. S. J. Parsons officiating.

bers of the RCAF.

U.S. TROOPS IN EUROPE

Pull-Out Hint Panics Germans

BONN (CP)—The Germans almost tremble at the thought that the United States might change its foreign policy, especially in regard to the defence of Western Europe and Berlin.

This is why any hint out of Washington that the U.S. might withdraw its forces from Western Europe caused the Germans to hit the panic button.

And diplomats say this is the reason behind President de Gaulle's proposal to create a French nuclear strike force. These are some of the views Defence Minister Harkness has heard in his talks this week with British, French, German and NATO officials.

SEEN AS SAFEGUARD

The Europeans, especially the French and Germans, feel that as long as there is one American soldier in Europe the U.S. will always rush to the defence of Western Europe.

But they have some doubts that, if all U.S. forces were withdrawn, the U.S. would automatically come to Europe's aid in the event of Soviet aggression.

Their view is that if Russia launched a conventional ground attack in Western Europe, the U.S. understandably might not be keen on drawing a nuclear blow on itself.

by delivering a nuclear strike against Russia.

NATO policy is that the West would use nuclear arms against a heavy conventional ground attack in Western Europe. But such a response, NATO officials now say, would not be automatic.

OLD CONCEPT DROPPED

In other words, NATO's military side has given up the old trip-wire concept of defence. This concept held that only light ground forces should guard the Western frontier to warn of Soviet attack and that nuclear response by the West would be automatic.

CANADA CONCERNED

This matter is important to Canada because of the presence in Europe of an RCAF air division, some to be armed with a new strike plane, and an infantry brigade which next year will get rockets capable of carrying nuclear warheads. It would seem unlikely Canada politically could keep forces in Europe longer than the U.S.

Harkness said Thursday Canada "at the moment" has no intention of withdrawing its forces from Europe. But the situation may change, Canadian officials have said, when Germany delivers its promised 12 divisions to NATO.

MAYORALTY FIGHT SHAPES IN VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two men were selected Thursday night to oppose Mayor Tom Alsbury in Vancouver's December municipal election.

The Civic Voters' Association withdrew its support for Mayor Alsbury and has begun a movement to draft Alderman Bill Rathie.

Meanwhile, the Vancouver Central Council of Ratepayers announced that it will support 56-year-old construction executive Ted Burnett.

CVA members voted 31-17 to support the draft Rathie move at stormy meeting. Mayor Alsbury was described as a "yes man" and the CVA nominating came out for Mr. Rathie as the "best man for the job."

'Speed Mail' Latest P.O. Jiffy Mix

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States post office department Tuesday launched Speed Mail, an electronic process by which it can deliver first class mail across the U.S. in a matter of seconds.

Postmaster-General Arthur Summerfield discussed and demonstrated the facsimile system at a press conference in the Washington post office.

Summerfield, 64, said that while Speed Mail involves electronic reproduction of a letter thousands of miles away, complete sanctity of the mail is provided for because no one but the machines has chance to read the letters. The original, he said, is automatically destroyed after its contents have been sent while the facsimile is automatically sealed at the receiving end.

Initial machines operated Tuesday between Washington, Chicago and Battle Creek, Mich.

With Speed Mail, a letter writer uses a special one-page combination letter and envelope. Once written, a Speed Mail letter is fed into the machines which route it, open it, scan it, send a duplicate by microwave to the receiving point, and then destroy the original.

Summerfield said there is as yet no estimate of how much it would cost to send such a letter. That can be worked out, he said, only as the experiment is developed.

Average annual temperature in New Zealand is 59 degrees in the northern area, 49 in the south.

FLORA GRUBB TO DANCE AT ROYAL

Capt. Wilson's 'Champion' Here November 14

Flora Grubb, Australian girl who won the 1960 world's highland dancing championship at Dunoon, Scotland, will appear on the Royal Theatre stage Nov. 14 with the show "Caledonia."

In the audience will be Capt. C. R. Wilson of Saanichton, piper and connoisseur of Scottish arts, who played a large part in having her compete for the title.

Only 21, Miss Grubb is the first person outside of Scotland to win the world title.

"I first saw her six years ago in the Sydney Highland games in Australia," Capt. Wilson said today. "I said to myself, 'this kid's got it,' and told my grandnieces that Flora was the teacher with whom to study Highland dancing."

"A year ago when I was in Sydney I told her she should shoot for the world championship."

She did. Veterans' associations and sports clubs in Newcastle, her home town, raised $800 to send her to Scotland in the spring.

"Meanwhile, I had been in touch with Jim McKenzie, world champion until 1959, and had asked him to do what he could for her. Unfortunately he had a tour arranged, but was able to coach her for two weeks."

"She started competing in the smaller games to study style of the Scottish dancers and acquaint herself with conditions. She won her share of gold medals, and finally won the big title from 134 other dancers."

A year ago, dancing with Capt. Wilson's grandniece, Flora showed him a dance she had devised herself. He named it the "Lilt of the Claymores."

was for her dancing before Mrs. Derrick R. Mallard, 1888 Neil Street, a judge at the Edinburgh Festival.

Screening Talks Saturday On Civil Service Labor Tie

Civil service officers meet in Vancouver Saturday to discuss briefs for and against affiliation with the B.C. Federation of Labor.

The executive of the B.C. Government Employees' Association will screen arguments prepared by two committees set up Oct. 17.

Results of Saturday's meeting will appear in the Nov. 15 issue of the civil service magazine, "The Provincial," and a vote on the question will be held by mail about Dec. 15.

The move follows cancellation by the government of pay-roll deduction of BCGEA dues because of political connection with the CCF through affiliation with the B.C. Federation.

Many top civil servants feel the vote will favor disaffiliation—a move already taken temporarily pending result of the balloting. The BCGEA and the labor group were affiliates for 12 years. The labor organization supported the CCF in the provincial election, and will be involved in the so-called New Party.

If the vote goes this way, then the BCGEA will ask the government to reinstate the dues checkoff, secretary E. P. O'Connor told the Times.

If the government does not comply, he added, "it will leave the unfortunate implication some other reason was behind the government move."

If the vote is for renewed affiliation, he predicted the government will continue to deny the checkoff "and all we can do is protest."

Mr. O'Connor said he would be surprised if the government makes any comments before the vote.

"They would be construed—or misconstrued—as attempts to influence the vote," he said.

There have been hints unofficially the government does not want to resume the check-off.

Mr. O'Connor said it will be "extremely difficult" to continue collecting dues within the 11,000-member association, although the response has been very good since the cut-off in October.

"The BCGEA has 50 locals, spread across the province, and in some remote areas has only one or two employees."

Mr. O'Connor said a three-envelope ballot system will be used in the referendum next month.

"All BCGEA members will receive an envelope containing a fold-up ballot which will be sealed and placed inside a stamped and addressed return envelope with the senders credentials on it."

The credentials will be checked, the outer envelope removed and the still-sealed ballot placed with others in a box.

"The vote will probably be concluded in the latter half of December," said Mr. O'Connor.

HIGHER RATES?

600 New Meters Requested

City finance committee Thursday, recommended immediate purchase of 600 new parking meters which can be set for any kind of parking rate.

The city was under contract to purchase the meters over a period of three years, but it was proposed to buy them at once in case there is a decision to increase the present five-cent-an-hour rate.

The meters were required for a replacement program in any event, the committee was told.

Committee also approved a $50 grant to the Victoria All-Girls' Drum Corps to assist their participation in the Grey Cup parade Nov. 26 in Vancouver.

Comptroller James Bramley told the committee finances were in good shape at the nine-month mark.

Some 91.92 per cent of the $518,356 tax levy had been collected, an improvement over the 91.65 per cent mark set last year, he said.

Committee also agreed to a firemen's union request for a meeting with aldermen to discuss methods of bargaining and the possibility of direct negotiations between council and the union.

Woman Fined Child Hit In Crosswalk

A woman motorist whose car was in collision with a child in a crosswalk was fined $40 and her licence was suspended when she pleaded guilty in city police court Thursday to careless driving.

"Pedestrian walks must be respected," Magistrate William Ostler told Phyllis K. Reid, 3405 Happy Valley.

"That child might easily have been killed," he said.

Court was told Mrs. Reid approached a crosswalk where another car already was stopped to allow a child to cross the street, but, not seeing the youngster, Mrs. Reid kept going.

His injuries were bruises.

FINCH TRIAL DISMISSAL PLEA DENIED

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The defence in the second Finch murder trial moved for a mistrial Thursday, alleging jury coercion.

The judge denied it.

Grant B. Cooper, lawyer for Dr. R. Bernard Finch, argued that:

1. The length of deliberations—more than 53 hours—is oppressive and coercive.

2. Superior Judge Leroy Dawson's statement to the jury Wednesday that "you should be able to reach a verdict" is further coercion.

Dr. Finch and his mistress, Carole Tregoff, are charged with the 1959 slaying of the surgeon's wife, Barbara. The first trial ended with a hung jury.

Paderewski Piano to UBC

VANCOUVER (CP) — A piano once owned by the late Polish pianist Paderewski, which has become a showpiece of British Columbia history, has been given to the University of B.C. school of music by the citizens of Walhachin, a village of 12 families near Kamloops.

The huge, black, concert grand stands in the Walhachin community hall, where it has been played at dances and concerts for more than 50 years. Dr. W. C. Gibson of UBC announced that the university has accepted the Walhachin citizens' offer of the historic instrument on extended loan, with the proviso that it will be returned if Walhachin ever becomes the metropolis it once was.

The piano was sold in Vancouver in 1910 by Ignace Jan

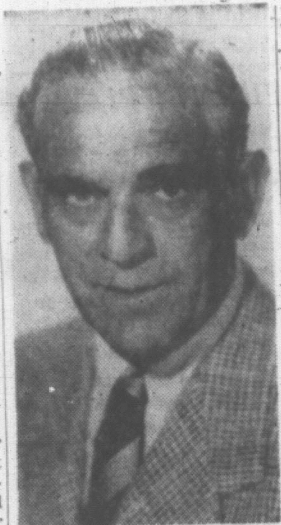

Paderewski, the world-renowned virtuoso and composer, at the completion of a North American tour.

The late Ralph Chetwynd purchased the piano for the Marquis of Anglesey, who had established a 5,000-acre fruit ranching community of 200 at Walhachin.

Anglesey irrigated the land with a flume 20 miles long and built a "castle" overlooking the Thompson River.

The piano was acquired for the Walhachin Hotel but it proved too big and was presented to the community hall where it has been used for concerts and dances ever since.

BORIS KARLOFF
... a gentle monster

DENISE'S EX GETS 4 YEARS FOR FRAUD

NEW YORK (AP) — Peter Francis Crosby, former husband of actress Denise Darcel, was sentenced Thursday to four years in prison for a stock fraud scheme against a mutual fund company.

United States district court Judge Edward Weinfeld ordered the sentence to run concurrently with a five-year term Crosby currently is serving in another stock swindle case.

Crosby was convicted of using facilities of the National Securities Exchange to defraud the Jefferson Custodian Fund, a mutual company.

KARLOFF ACTIVE AT 73

Kamloops Stage His Springboard

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Arriving at his 50th year as an actor, Boris Karloff has this to say:

"It's amazing! Imagine me, at my age—73—still active in my profession and commuting 12,000 miles to work! I must be the luckiest man in the world."

That's Karloff, one of Hollywood's nicest paradoxes. The archetype of horror ever since he played the tall-browed monster in Frankenstein, he has remained the gentlest of gentlemen.

He was working on the Phantom Stage, so named because Phantom of the Opera was filmed on it.

"I worked on this stage many a time," he said. "Most of the Frankenstein scenes were shot on Stage 12, but some of the scenes were done on the Phantom Stage. This lot holds many memories for me."

STARTED IN B.C.

Karloff, a native of London, started on the stage at Kamloops, B.C., playing a villain.

I wondered if all the memories were pleasant ones. After all, he was and is a polished performer, yet the general public sees him in the image of the hulking, brainless monster.

"Me worry about type casting?" he asked. "Good heavens, no! The monster was the best friend I ever had. I only played him three times, so I wasn't stuck with him."

VICTIM IDENTIFIED

PENTICTON — An 84-year-old pensioner, who died in Penticton Hospital three hours after walking into the path of an auto here Monday, has been identified as Theodore Poggel.

Kamloops Stage His Springboard

"Certainly I was typed. But what is typing? It is a trade mark, a means by which the public recognizes you. Actors work all their lives to achieve that. Companies spend millions of dollars to establish trade marks. I got mine with just one picture. It was a blessing."

"So I am typed in the thriller category. That's not a bad department to be in."

The Karloff trade mark made him the logical candidate to host a new thriller. To perform his duties, he engages in a rigorous schedule for any person, much less a 73-year-old. He lives in London, works in Hollywood.

2,000 Laud Canadian Ballet

OTTAWA (CP) — The National Ballet of Canada opened a three-day stand here Thursday night with three works new to the capital.

Cabinet ministers and diplomats were among an audience of about 2,000 who applauded the new Canadian ballet, Antic Spring, a "pas de deux romantique" created by David Adams for himself and his wife, Lois Smith, and the choreography by director Celia Franca for L'Apres Midi d'un Faune.

The company is in the third week of an extensive tour across Canada and the United States.

Ottawa Citizen critic Lauretta Thistle called Mr. Adams' pas de deux the "most impressive" of the new works.

Symphony Show 'Premiere' Set for Tonight at Sidney

First of this season's series of Victoria Symphony Orchestra concerts at Sidney takes place tonight at Sanscha Hall.

The program to be played is identical with the one scheduled for the third pair at the Royal Theatre on Sunday afternoon and Monday evening.

For Sidney this means a premiere of a thrilling performance by solo violinist Esther Glazer, of Paganini's electrifying Violin Concerto No. 1 in D. This is one of the most virtuosic of all concertos and the Victoria Symphony is fortunate to have found an artist able to play it.

CHILD PRODIGY
Miss Glazer, who is the wife of Vancouver Symphony conductor Irwin Hoffman, was a child prodigy who made her concert debut in Chicago at the age of nine.

She has studied at the Juilliard School in New York where she met her husband and has won numerous awards, notably the coveted Naumberg Award in New York, where she debuted at Town Hall.

In the past several seasons Miss Glazer has made more than 50 appearances with orchestras, including Chicago, New Orleans and New York. She has been heard frequently on the CBC coast-to-coast network.

HIGHLIGHT
Her performance of the fantastically difficult Paganini Concerto will probably turn out to be one of the season's highlights in Victoria.

The concerts will be conducted by assistant conductor and concert master Clifford Evans, who returned in the middle of last season after spending some time in private study with Sir John Barbirolli in Manchester.

Also on the program will be ROSSINI'S Overture to the "Bar-mezzo" from "Fenimore and ber of Seville", Tchaikovsky's "Gerdia" and Faure's Suite, Fifth Symphony, Delius' Inter-"Felleas et Melisande".

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — South Africa's Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd may be planning a cabinet shuffle, political circles said today.

MAO PLEDGES ALGERIANS UNLIMITED AID

COPENHAGEN (Reuters) — Algerian rebel leader Ferhat Abbas said today that Communist China's offer of "unlimited help" to the rebels had created a "completely new situation" in Algeria and he no longer was interested in negotiations with French President de Gaulle. Abbas, head of the Algerian provisional government, said the insurgents would get weapons from China to continue their war for independence. In an interview published in the Danish newspaper Aktuelt, Abbas said Mao promised the insurgents "unlimited help, without conditions of any kind."

VANCOUVER (CP) — Premier Bennett said today the Social Credit government has never passed legislation against labor and never will.

He was commenting at the opening session of the annual meeting of the British Columbia Social Credit League on reports that the government plans "anti-labor" legislation. In a talk which stressed federal politics, he said: "We've never had a single bit of legislation against labor and never will."

He said since Social Credit came to office in 1952 the gov-

Act Not Challenged During Election

In support of the Trade Unions Act, much criticized by labor, he said no labor leader challenged the act during the recent election campaign. He said nobody in his right mind would say that a trade union is not a legal entity as set out in the act. He described Labor Minister Wicks, defeated in the Sept. 12 election, as the best labor minister in B.C.'s history, adding that Social Credit would not have won the election without the labor vote.

JOSEPH PEEL

DUMPED AT SEA

Ex-Judge Charged In Murders

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Joseph Peel, former city judge of West Palm Beach, Fla., was arrested here Thursday night on charges of murder in the 1955 death of a Florida judge and his wife.

Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth and his wife, Marjorie, vanished from their West Palm Beach oceanfront home June 15, 1955. Police said circumstances indicated they had been kidnapped and slain.

Sheriff James Turner said Peel, a neatly-dressed man, was taken into custody 40 minutes after he arrived by plane from Charlotte, N.C.

Turner said Peel apparently came here to join James Donald Miles, 31, an Eau Gallie, Fla., builder. Miles and Peel, the sheriff said, are also under $25,000 bond in Florida on charges that they conspired to murder a Florida ex-convict, Floyd Holzapfel, 36.

Florida authorities said it was Holzapfel who last month blurted out to two undercover agents in Melbourne, Fla., that he and another man were hired to murder Chillingworth.

THROWN INTO SEA

According to the story, which police said they tape recorded, the men took the 38-year-old judge and his wife four or five miles out to sea, weighted them with chains, and threw them overboard.

Thing is, Mister Khrushchev lives a life where a rumor like that COULD be true.

TCA must hev bin readin' Shakespeare: "Fare is foul and foul is fare. Hover through the fog and filthy air."

Th' Memorial Arena may turn out t' be memorable.

'Nonsense' Replies Tass

VIENNA (AP) — Completely unverified rumors of a government upset in the Soviet Union spread through offices of the Austrian government today and led a Vienna newspaper to issue an edition carrying the banner headline: "Struggle for power in Moscow, Khrushchev ousted, Malenkov successor."

Moscow denied the rumors. Its embassy here called the story "utter nonsense." The embassy at Bonn, Germany, used "stupid nonsense." The Soviet news agency office in New York spoke of "complete nonsense."

But in Paris, French Information Minister Louis Terrenoire told reporters that diplomats had the impression "that something has happened or is happening" in Moscow.

MOSCOW NORMAL

The Moscow bureau of The Associated Press reported the Soviet capital gave every appearance of normal business, with no sign of government upheaval. Soviet officials in the West reported they had heard nothing to substantiate the rumors and Western experts on the Russian situation were sceptical that a coup had taken place.

The rumor as printed in Abend-Press, Vienna's only evening paper, was that Georgi Malenkov, the man Nikita Khrushchev succeeded as premier, had taken over the government in a coup engineered by the anti-party group.

This is the group of old Communists, including Malenkov, that Khrushchev tumbled from power in 1957.

ORIGIN CONFUSED

There were two versions as to how it all began in this city of many rumors:

1. An unidentified man called up several local news offices with the report.

2. A code clerk in the local Soviet Embassy broke the news to an Austrian friend early today.

Neither version could be traced authoritatively. Highly placed officials in Washington expressed skepticism as did diplomats in European capitals. One informant there said there has been no evidence that Premier Khrushchev was in serious trouble, although he has been engaged in a long ideological struggle with the Chinese Communists.

Russians Back Down On UN Reorganization

9 SEAMEN FEARED LOST IN NEW U.K. STORMS

LONDON (AP) — Nine seamen were feared lost in a gale sweeping the English Channel today. Storms sent new floods spilling over southern England.

The nine men were aboard the 200-ton British motorship Lessrix, missing off the south coast. Search planes spotted two ship's boats but they were empty.

The gales prevented the French liner Liberté from making its usual call at Plymouth.

Instead she landed London-bound passengers at Le Havre.

Large areas of Kent and Sussex were laid waste by floods which snarled rail and road communications with London.

In Kent, 50,000 acres of land were covered in the country's worst floods on record.

Congo 'Colony' Mobutu Charges

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — Col. Joseph Mobutu's Council of High Commissioners today accused the United Nations of plotting to establish a "colonial regime" in the Congo with the help of Afro-Asian nations.

"The UN Secretary-General (Dag Hammarskjöld) has finally revealed his plans to put our country under a colonial regime of the United Nations with the help of Ghana, Guinea, Morocco and Asiatic countries including India," a statement read over Leopoldville radio said.

The statement, read by deputy information high commissioner Pascal Kapella, called upon Congolese to rally behind the army and "fight to the death" against the alleged plot.

It rejected Hammarskjöld's assertions Thursday that Mobutu's army coup last Sept. 14 had aggravated the political situation and claimed that thanks to the army, the terrorism which occurred "before the eyes of UN troops," had been stamped out.

Kapella said the United Nations also was trying to prevent the return of Belgian teachers and businessmen to the Congo to aid in the nation's rehabilitation. He called for the arrest and punishment of all those "who co-operate with the UN forces to provoke trouble in the country."

COMPULSORY RETIREMENT

LONDON (CP) — Britain today published draft legislation that eventually will make it compulsory for Canadian superior court judges to retire at the age of 75.

The move was initiated with the publication of a bill to amend the British North America Act of 1867 — Canada's constitution.

Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandys introduced the legislation in the British House of Commons. Sandys' action follows earlier authorization of the move by the Canadian Parliament.

The amendment is to come into force March 1.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The Soviet Union, in a several of policy prompted by Afro-Asian hostility, agreed today to postpone for at least a year Premier Nikita Khrushchev's ultimatum for a "radical" reorganization of the United Nations.

Soviet delegate Alexei A. Roschin, speaking in the General Assembly's budget committee, announced the Soviet pullback by saying Russia would leave its sweeping reorganization demands in the hands of a "committee of experts."

The committee, already selected by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld to review problems of the UN secretariat, is not due to issue its first full report until the 16th Assembly next year.

UP TO COMMITTEE

Roschin left to the committee a "serious consideration" all the issues raised by Khrushchev during his three-week visit to the assembly earlier this fall.

They included the demand that the office of the secretary-general be eliminated and replaced by a three-man Soviet-style presidium representing the so-called Western, socialist and neutralist blocs, and also the call for "more equitable" regional representation in the secretariat.

A third key point was Russia's demand that the UN budget — estimated at about $67.5 million for 1961 — be "stabilized" at only $50 million and all appropriations over that be put into a series of "special budgets" supported only by the nations immediately concerned.

Roschin's sudden announcement that these points would be postponed gave strength to reports the Soviet bloc also may reverse its decision not to pay its share of the multi-million-dollar UN Congo operation.

'Clean Sheet' Talks

JUST ABOUT EVERYTHING GOING UP Living Costs Reach All-Time High

OTTAWA (CP) — The cost of living in Canada hit a record high point Oct. 1 as the consumer price index climbed nearly one per cent during September. The bureau of statistics reported today the index rose a full point to 129.4 on Oct. 1 from 128.4 a month earlier, with increases felt in all sectors of the consumer budget. It was the biggest monthly jump since June, 1956.

Most of the increase came from a two-per-cent rise in food costs which the bureau described as a seasonal increase. The index consumer living costs, based on 1949 prices, equalling 100, now is 1.1 per cent higher than the Oct. 1, 1959, level of 128.0.

The bureau said food price tags rose in September on eggs, most meats, bananas, citrus fruits and tomatoes, though there were lower prices for apples, Canadian-grown vegetables, and lamb. Net effect was to move the index of food costs to a record 125.8 on Oct. 1 from 123.2 a month earlier. The food index thus was 1.3 per cent above the previous record of 124.4 set a year earlier.

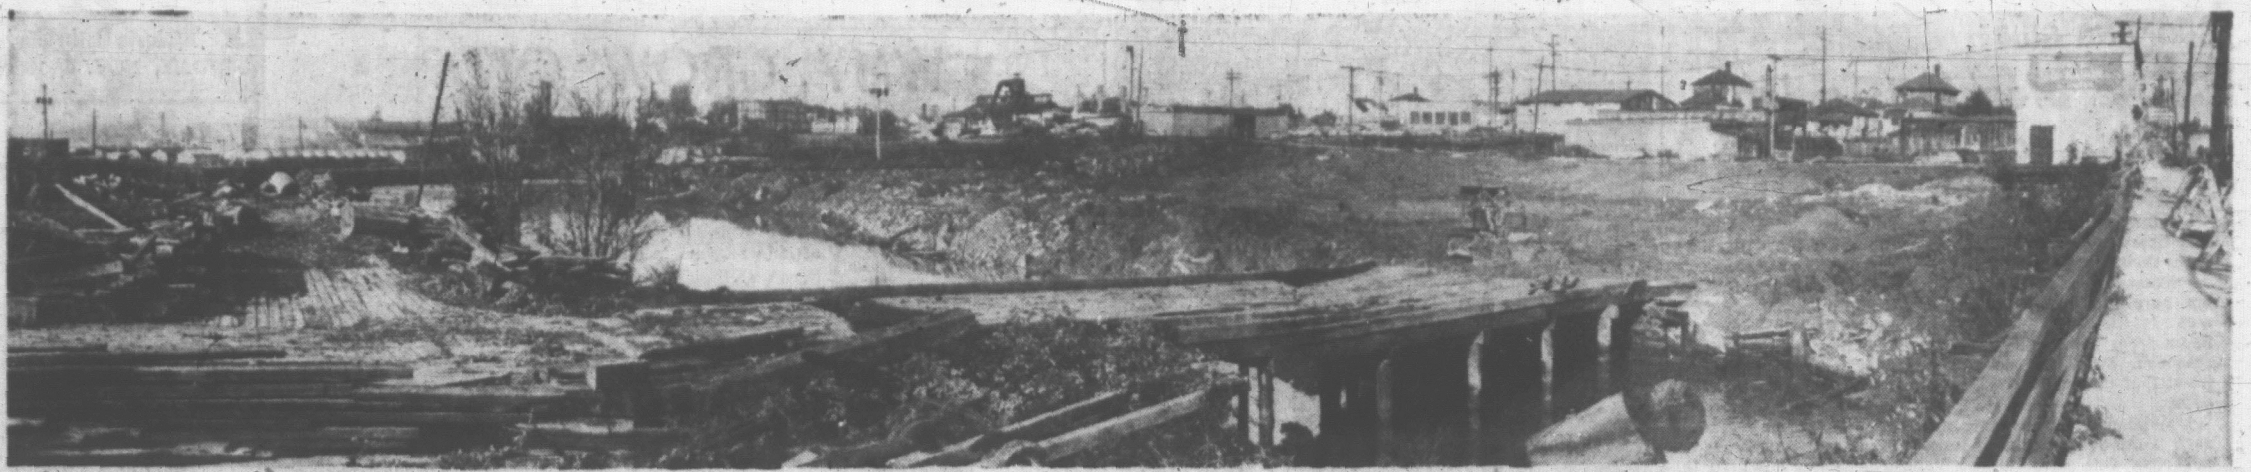

All other components of the general consumer price index also climbed during September, with increases averaging one-fifth of one per cent.

The September rise in living costs followed a decline in industrial wages during August. The index of average industrial wages and salaries at Sept. 1 — latest date available — was 176.7 compared with 177.5 a month earlier and 170.9 a year earlier. This index is based on 1949 average wages equalling 100.

Apart from the rise in food prices, the part of the consumer budget most affected in September was clothing. The index of clothing costs advanced three-fifths of one per cent to 112.2 from 110.5 between Sept. 1 and Oct. 1.

LOWLY SLOUGH ON WAY TO BECOMING VALUABLE INDUSTRIAL LAND

Valuable addition to available industrial land in city is taking place in Rock Bay area as Crowe-Gonnason Ltd. proceeds with gradual filling of four-acre slough in front of their property at Government and Rock Bay, adjoining B.C. Electric gas works. When fill is completed, total of 11 acres of valuable land will be ready for development. Most popular suggestion to date has been creation of combine heliport and bus terminal. Vancouver real estate firm has already expressed interest in developing heliport to be leased back to city or to operators of heliport service. City has reserved right of way for possible truck road connecting Store Street and Rock Bay Avenue, relieving traffic pressure on Government and Douglas. Owners have offered site for $250,000.

MONTE ROBERTS

In case it has escaped your attention, this is National Cat Week.

As far as I can figure out, National Cat Week is put on by people who are in favor of cats, just as National Doughnut Week and National Kumquat week and National Left-Handed Shortstop week are put on by people in favor of doughnuts, kumquats, and (unlikely though it may seem) left-handed shortstops.

This puts me squarely in the National Cat Week Camp, as I am currently in favor of cats.

It was not always thus. For many years, I was owned by a succession of dogs, fine fellows, all of them, and my only interest in cats was to see that no cat chased a dog the heck and gone off his own property.

But due to the exigencies of city living, there came a time when I didn't have a home where a doggie could roam, and I became owned by a cat.

Being owned by a cat isn't as bad as it might appear to those who have only been owned by dogs.

It is worse.

you-are-my-master manner.

Dogs get what they want, but they persuade you it was your idea in the first place.

Cats get what they want, period.

Which is a long-winded way of getting at the fact I am in favor of National Cat Week, but I am puzzled by same. You can nationalize coal, steel, railroads, banks, wheat, whisky, doughnuts, kumquats, and left-handed shortstops, but you can't nationalize cats.

In the National Cat Week information released by Victoria's very own Cats' Protection League, mention is made of the care and feeding of cats, of the protection of cats from cruelty, and even of controlling the surplus population of cats.

But there's no mention of the training of cats, and no directions on how to discipline a cat.

Disciplining a cat would be about as effective as suggesting to Niagara Falls that up is a much better direction than down.

That is why, while all in favor of National Cat Week—I can't see how cats can be nationalized.

Doughnuts, yes. Kumquats, yes. Left-handed shortstops, yes. But cats?

Perhaps the Cats' Protection League people have an answer. You could drop in at 1107 Douglas any day this week between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. and ask them.

(Don't tell them I sent you.)

TOPICS OF THE DAY

The younger section of the Junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Monterey Restaurant parking lot for a field trip to the "panhandle" off Munn Road.

Games, hot dogs, home cooking, sewing, candy, and door prizes will be featured Saturday from 2 to 5 p.m. at Lake Hill School when the PTA stages its annual fun fair.

Two Victoria men have successfully passed examinations set by the Pharmaceutical Association of British Columbia for registration as pharmacists in the province.

They are M. J. Daum, 3493 Cardiff Place, and E. L. McMurdo, 3262 Henderson. Mr. Daum graduated from University of Alberta in 1952 and Mr. McMurdo graduated from University of Saskatchewan in 1952.

Ward Seven, Saanich Liberal Association, has planned a social evening for Monday at 8 in Hampton Hall. Guest speaker will be J. Gorst, president of the association. Bingo and cards will be played and coffee and doughnuts served. There is no admission charge.

CPR VETERAN SHUNNED THEM

'How He Loathed The New Diesels'

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

A Victoria woman, Miss Julie Crawford, today recalled how her father took part in the historic ceremony which brought British Columbia into Confederation 75 years ago.

This was the driving of the last spike of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Craigellachie, west of Revelstoke in Eagle Pass on Nov. 7, 1885.

The 75th anniversary will be commemorated at the Empress Hotel next Monday when Miss Crawford will cut a large cake patterned on the cairn at Craigellachie.

Miss Crawford, who lives at 1143 Pandora, is the only surviving child of Matthew Fulton Crawford, CPR locomotive engineer who attended the spike-driving ceremony.

Mr. Crawford died in Vancouver in 1954 at the age of 92. But his daughter treasures a recorded description of the ceremony as it was told by her father to the late Bruce McKelvie of Cobble Hill.

"I have heard the story since I was a small child," said Miss Crawford, a jolly, good-humored ex-school teacher.

"He was there in the early morning as the last rail lengths were being fitted together, and he looked on while Sir Donald Smith (later Lord Strathcona) drove home the plain iron spike.

"He said it was a mild November day and everyone was very excited. I can picture the scene just as my father recalled it. There were no women present—just a group of CPR officials and railroad workers.

"One man told me he was a baby at the ceremony but my father assured me there were no babies there.

"Sir Donald made a speech emphasizing that Canada now stretched from Atlantic to Pacific and would prosper as a united nation in the years ahead.

"Everyone cheered his prediction."

HOLDUP

Later in 1906 Mr. Crawford was driver of the passenger train which was held-up by the Haney Brothers at Ducks, near Kamloops.

"He lived to see the new diesel locomotives on the CPR—and he loathed them," his daughter said. "In fact he hated them so much he would never travel on a train drawn by a diesel.

"When he died, the CPR laid on an old coal-burning engine to drive his body back to Kamloops for burial. It was done out of respect to a man who had given so much to the old steam railroad."

It is staffed with seven volunteers from the junior league.

Chest Donations At Rock-Bottom

Victoria, one of the richest cities in Canada on a population basis, is one of the lowest in per capita Community Chest contributions.

Arena Board Will Decide On Meeting

Memorial Arena commission virtually can choose its own terms of reference for a meeting with city finance committee over recent resignations by six employees, it became clear today.

The commission was to meet tonight "to discuss the whole question of fixing a date, and meeting with the city council committee," said chairman F. G. Mulliner.

Ald. Arthur Dowell, chairman of finance committee, said he would not call any meeting.

"At the present moment I see no necessity for me calling a meeting. I have every confidence in the commission and that's all I'm going to say," he said.

REPORT ASKED

The meeting had been proposed Thursday during an off-the-record discussion between Mr. Mulliner and the finance committee when Ald. Hugh Ramsay asked for a report on the resignations.

Meanwhile, Kenneth Noakes, arena office manager who led the resignations last month, disagreed with a statement by Mr. Mulliner that the six employees did not have 34 years of collective service, full and part time, with the arena.

"I don't know where Mr. Mulliner got his information but, evidently he has been misinformed. The newspaper story that we had 34 years service is correct."

WORKED FOR RINK

He said suggestions that the resigned employees had worked for the Cougar Hockey Club and not the arena directly were wrong.

Out of the six who resigned, only a single cashier worked for the Cougars.

"Mrs. Dorothy Buile worked for them last year but she was just on loan from us," said Mr. Noakes. "We had first call on her. If there was no work from the arena for her, she was allowed to work for the Cougar Club—selling tickets."

"But she had seven years service directly with the arena until she resigned."

The campaign, which today hit $193,172 in a drive for $350,000, was to have ended today but has been extended two weeks because of the poor returns.

President of the drive, Eric Mallett, said "Victoria's prestige is at stake" in the campaign.

Figures from 1959 put Victoria at the bottom in contributions compared with most centres.

AGAIN?

There could easily be a repetition this year.

Last year per capita contributions to the Community Chest in Victoria were $2.26; Montreal was $6.76; Toronto, $6.09; Vancouver, $4.86; London, Ont., $3.95; Saskatoon, $3.82; Brantford, $3.66.

Mr. Mallett reiterated that the $350,000 was the absolute minimum needed to carry on work of the 22 member agencies.

"Budgets have been gone over with a fine-tooth comb. If they had been allowed to run the sum would be close to $500,000."

IT'S A BLOW

If this sum is not reached, "it is a direct blow at your less privileged neighbor," he said.

Most important now are returns from small businesses, and callbacks in the residential canvass.

The Chest president considered it a "possibility" the goal could be reached "if people realize how important this is."

"If the present economic system collapses, where are the complacent coupon-clippers then?"

The Chest function exemplifies the fight for democracy as opposed to government control of all agencies, he said, such as would happen under any socialist regime.

DOOR OPEN?

"We are surrounded by dictatorships and quasi-dictatorships. If we can't make a venture such as the Chest function adequately, it leaves the door open for socialist philosophy."

Bulk of Chest contributions come from the people who "do" things, employees who feel a concern for fellow men and try their best to help.

They realize their own names could be listed for aid, just a little farther along in the book.

MRS. W. W. MCGILL ... to take "holiday"

VETERAN TRUSTEE TO QUIT

Greater Victoria School Board will have at least one new member in January, it was assured today.

Mrs. W. W. McGill, veteran member of the board, said she will not stand for re-election.

Four other members whose terms expire this year are expected to run again.

Mrs. McGill has represented the Saanich portion of School District 61 for 11 years, two of them as chairman of the board. She was appointed to the board two years ago by the minister of education after no one stood for election from Saanich.

LOADED DOWN

A vigorous campaigner for the "Save the Children Fund," she said she was loaded down with too many activities to run for trustee again.

"I want some quiet time and chance to be a listener for awhile," she said.

But after a rest, she may decide to run again "in a year or two."

Other trustees whose terms expire this year are: Mrs. E. M. Maunsell and Walter Thomas, representing Victoria; Walter Freethy, representing Oak Bay, and R. H. Reeve representing Esquimalt.

The elections will be held Dec. 8.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Please advise in what country Einar M. Gunderson was born. H.T.

A. He was born July 6, 1899 in Cooperstown, North Dakota of Canadian parents.

Q. Who invented the safety pin? H.H.

A. The pin as we know was invented by Walter Hunt of New York in 1846. Actually, he reinvented it. The safety pin was known in the Mediterranean area many hundreds of years BC, but for some reason or other fell into disuse and was lost to mankind from about 500 AD until Mr. Hunt came up with his idea.

Weatherman One Up On City Aldermen

If weatherman William Macle wasn't a perfect gentleman he would be at City Hall today wearing a nasty grin and waving embarrassing statistics.

Last June the city public works committee complained that temperatures taken at the Gonzales weather office were lower than those prevailing elsewhere in Greater Victoria, and did not give a fair indication of the balmy summer weather here.

So minimum temperatures in Greater Victoria Thursday ranged between 29 degrees, in the Tillicum area, and 40 degrees at Gonzales.

The 40-degree reading is the one sent from here as official," he said.

That made Victoria the third warmest spot in Canada during the coldest part of the day. (Its maximum temperature for the day was the fourth warmest in Canada.)

If the Tillicum minimum temperature had been cited by the Dominion weather office as official, then Victoria would have been eighth coldest spot, between Port Arthur and Kamloops.

LUCK FOR BRIDE

Silver Horseshoe Sent By Relatives Overseas

Before Miss Selina Wildig was married in St. Mary's Anglican Church, last Saturday, her godson, Stephen Dods, presented her with a silver horseshoe for good luck. The charm was sent to the bride by her nieces and nephews in England.

The groom is Allan Cracknell, of Dartmouth, N.S., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Cracknell of Toronto. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Robert C. Wildig, of Cumberland, England, and the late Mr. Wildig.

Standard baskets of mauve and white chrysanthemums, with matching pew markers, decorated the church for the ceremony. Canon H. J. Jones heard the wedding vows.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her uncle, A. R. C. Wildig. She wore a floor-length gown of floating nylon sheer over satin. Basque bodice had a scalloped neckline of Alencon lace sparkling with iridescent sequins. Lace was repeated on each side of the dropped waistline while the hooped skirt was enhanced with a lace panel at front and a large bow added at the back. Sleeves were lily point. From a coronet of seed pearls and iridescent sequins flamed a veil of illusion net accented with pearls. The bouquet was of white and cream roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Arthur Dods, the matron of honor, and Miss Carol Turner, bridesmaid, wore matching gowns of deep mauve organza over lilac printed taffeta with accessories in tone. Their bouquets were of Johanna Hill roses.

Guybon Caws was best man and ushers were Fred Hodgkinson and Leslie Brown.

TAKE PRIDE IN BEING FARM WOMEN

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Too many Canadian farm women underrate themselves, Mrs. L. G. Lymburner, president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario, said Tuesday.

"It grieves me that sometimes Canadian farm people apologize a little because they are farm people," Mrs. Lymburner told delegates to the London area convention of Women's Institutes.

"They are part of probably the most ancient and most historical profession in the world."

Mrs. Lymburner said she noticed on a recent visit to Europe that women there take pride in being women of the land.

Mrs. and Mrs. A. M. Robertson, 2520 Woolton Crescent, wish to announce the marriage on Thursday, Nov. 10, of their eldest daughter, Arleen Heather, to Mr. Donald Albert Dent, son of Mr. Albert Dent, 1015 Falmouth Road, and Mrs. S. 'Nonsense' Replies Moscow

VIENNA (AP) — Completely unverified rumors of a government upset in the Soviet Union, spread through offices of the Austrian government today and led a Vienna newspaper to issue an edition carrying the banner headline:

"Struggle for power in Moscow, Khrushchev ousted, Malenkov successor."

Moscow denied the rumors. Its embassy here called the story "utter nonsense." The embassy at Bonn, Germany, used "stupid nonsense." The Soviet news agency office in New York spoke of "complete nonsense."

But in Paris, French Information Minister Louis Terrenoire told reporters that diplomats had the impression "that something has happened or is happening" in Moscow.

MOSCOW NORMAL

The Moscow bureau of The Associated Press reported the Soviet capital gave every appearance of normal business, with no sign of government upheaval. Soviet officials in the West reported they had heard nothing to substantiate the rumors and Western experts on the Russian situation were sceptical that a coup had taken place.

The rumor as printed in Abend-Press, Vienna's only evening paper, was that Georgi Malenkov, the man Nikita Khrushchev succeeded as premier, had taken over the government in a coup engineered by the anti-party group. This is the group of old Communists, including Malenkov, that Khrushchev tumbled from power in 1957.

The newspaper, crediting its story to "international circles" here, claimed that Communist China has had an important hand in the alleged upheaval.

ORIGIN CONFUSED

There were two versions as to how it all began in this city of many rumors:

1. An unidentified man called up several local news offices with the report.
2. A code clerk in the local Soviet Embassy broke the news to an Austrian friend early today.

Neither version could be traced authoritatively.

Highly placed officials in Washington expressed skepticism as did diplomats in European capitals. One informant there said there has been no evidence that Premier Khrushchev was in serious trouble, although he has been engaged in a long ideological struggle with the Chinese Communists.

9 SEAMEN FEARED LOST IN NEW U.K. STORMS

LONDON (AP) — Nine seamen were feared lost in a gale sweeping the English Channel today. Storms sent new floods spilling over southern England.

The nine men were aboard the 200-ton British motorship Leander, missing off the south coast. Search planes spotted two ship's boats but they were empty.

The gales prevented the French liner Liberte from making its usual call at Plymouth.

Instead she landed London-bound passengers at Le Havre.

Large areas of Kent and Sussex were laid waste by floods which snarled rail and road communications with London.

In Kent, 50,000 acres of land were covered in the country's worst floods on record.

WASHINGTON — Vice-President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy zigzagged across thousands of miles today in almost frenzied campaign efforts with only four days left before the presidential election.

Kennedy faced a hectic day of travel up to a major television address tonight from Chicago. Nixon will make another night TV appearance. President Eisenhower was scheduled to make a major speech on Nixon's behalf at noon in Cleveland and follow with a television address from Pittsburgh just before Kennedy goes on the air.

(All three telecasts will be heard tonight in Victoria over Channel 5. Vice-President Nixon at 8:30, President Eisenhower at 9 and Senator Kennedy at 9:30, PST.)

Both national party chairmen made victory predictions Thursday.

Democratic Sen. Henry M. Jackson and former president Harry S. Truman announced together in New York. "The Democratic ticket is going to win Tuesday without any question."

tion or doubt." But Republican Sen. Thurston B. Morton and campaign chief Leonard W. Hall declared, "The pattern of victory is now evident." They forecast a close popular vote and a "substantial" Nixon majority in the electoral count.

MOCK EACH OTHER

The presidential rivals mocked each other's use of campaign support as they stepped up the fervor of their attacks on both the opposition personality and party.

Nixon, on a sweep into North Carolina and Texas, again chided Kennedy for saying the United States was approaching an economic slump.

"He may have more dollars than you have, but you have a lot more sense than he has," he said during a Houston address.

MAO PLEDGES ALGERIANS UNLIMITED AID

COPENHAGEN (Reuters) — Algerian rebel leader Ferhat Abbas said today that Communist China's offer of "unlimited help" to the rebels had created a "completely new situation" in Algeria and he no longer was interested in negotiations with French President de Gaulle.

Abbas, head of the Algerian provisional government, said the insurgents would get weapons from China to continue their war for independence.

In an interview published in the Danish newspaper Aktuel, Abbas said Mao promised the insurgents "unlimited help, without conditions of any kind."

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The Soviet Union, in a reversal of policy prompted by Afro-Asian hostility, agreed today to postpone for at least a year Premier Nikita Khrushchev's ultimatum for a "radical" reorganization of the United Nations.

Soviet delegate Alexei A. Roschin, speaking in the General Assembly's budget committee, announced the Soviet pullback by saying Russia would leave its sweeping reorganization demands in the hands of a "committee of experts."

The committee already selected by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld to review problems of the UN secretariat, is not due to issue its first full report until the 16th Assembly next year.

UP TO COMMITTEE

Roschin left to the committee's "serious consideration" all the issues raised by Khrushchev during his three-week visit to the assembly earlier this fall.

They included the demand that the office of the secretary-general be eliminated and replaced by a three-man Soviet-style presidium representing the so-called Western, socialist and neutralist blocs, and also the call for "more equitable" regional representation in the secretariat.

A third key point was Russia's demand that the UN budget — estimated at about $67.5 million for 1961 — be "stabilized" at only $50 million and all appropriations over that be put into a series of "special budgets" supported only by the nations immediately concerned.

Roschin's sudden announcement that these points would be postponed gave strength to reports the Soviet bloc also may reverse its decision not to pay its share of the multi-million-dollar UN Congo operation.

10 Caught in Spy Network Trap

PARIS (Reuters) — French counter-espionage police have arrested about 10 persons in an investigation of an alleged Polish-run spy network in France, police sources said today.

Those arrested included the Communist mayor of Fenain, in northeastern France. Police sources said that no charges had yet been made.

Knocked Out by Fall, Miner Drowns

ANYOX, B.C. (CP) — Christopher McRae, 46-year-old employee of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., was drowned Thursday when he fell into a creek near this village 70 miles north of Prince Rupert. It was reported today.

Police said he apparently slipped on loose shale on the creek bank and hit his head on a log, then slipped into the water unconscious.

Congo 'Colony' Mobutu Charges

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — Col. Joseph Mobutu's Council of High Commissioners today accused the United Nations of plotting to establish a "colonial regime" in the Congo with the help of Afro-Asian nations.

The UN Secretary-General (Dag Hammarskjöld) has finally revealed his plans to put our country under a colonial regime of the United Nations with the help of Ghana, Guinea, Morocco and Asiatic countries including India," a statement read over Leopoldville radio said.

The statement, read by deputy information high commissioner Pascal Kapella, called upon Congolese to rally behind the army and "fight to the death" against the alleged plot.

It rejected Hammarskjöld's assertions Thursday that Mobutu's army coup last Sept. 14 had aggravated the political situation and claimed that thanks to the army, the terrorism which occurred "before the eyes of UN troops," had been stamped out.

Kapella said the United Nations also was trying to prevent the return of Belgian teachers and businessmen to the Congo to aid in the nation's rehabilitation. He called for the arrest and punishment of all those "who co-operate with the UN forces to provoke trouble in the country."

Mr. Bennett said Social Credit is the only answer to the Socialist state.

The socialists hated Social Credit more than any other party, he said, because socialism could "knock over the other parties one by one."

Mr. Kennedy said Social Credit stands for the things that "are right in the eyes of God."

Defends Policy At Sacred Parley

VANCOUVER (CP) — Premier Bennett said today the Social Credit government has never passed legislation against labor and never will.

He was commenting at the opening session of the annual meeting of the British Columbia Social Credit League on reports that the government plans "anti-labor" legislation.

In a talk which stressed federal politics, he said:

"We've never had a single bit of legislation against labor and never will."

He said since Social Credit came to office in 1952 the government has stepped on many corns, including those of big business.

WAGES FOR WORK

When "certain labor bosses tried to be more powerful than the government itself" the government had replied with labor legislation that made it possible for working men and their wives to get wages for work instead of strike pay.

In support of the Trade Unions Act, much criticized by labor, he said no labor leader challenged the act during the recent election campaign.

He said nobody in his right mind would say that a trade union is not a legal entity as set out in the act.

FRAISES WICKS

He described Labor Minister Wicks, defeated in the Sept. 12 election, as the best labor minister in B.C.'s history, adding that Social Credit would not have won the election without the labor vote.

Mr. Bennett, Orvis Kennedy, president of the Alberta Association, and national president Robert N. Thompson, all stressed Social Credit participation in federal politics.

Mr. Bennett said Social

DUMPED AT SEA

Ex-Judge Charged In Murders

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Joseph Peel, former city judge of West Palm Beach, Fla., was arrested here Thursday night on charges of murder in the 1955 death of a Florida judge and his wife.

Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth and his wife, Marjorie, vanished from their West Palm Beach oceanfront home June 25, 1955. Police said circumstances indicated they had been kidnapped and slain.

Sheriff James Turner said Peel, a neatly dressed man, was taken into custody 40 minutes after he arrived by plane from Charlotte, N.C.

Turner said Peel apparently came here to join James Donald Miles, 31, an Eau Gallie, Fla., builder. Miles and Peel, the sheriff said, are also under $25,000 bond in Florida on charges that they conspired to murder a Florida ex-convict, Floyd Holzapfel, 36.

Florida authorities said it was Holzapfel who last month blurred out to two undercover agents in Melbourne, Fla., that he and another man were hired to murder Chillingworth.

According to the story, which police said they tape-recorded, the men took the 58-year-old judge and his wife four or five miles out to sea, weighted them with chains, and threw them overboard.

Living Costs at All-Time High

OTTAWA (CP) — The cost of living in Canada hit a record high point Oct. 1 as the consumer price index climbed nearly one per cent during September.

The bureau of statistics reported today the index rose a full point to 129.4 on Oct. 1 from 128.4 a month earlier, with increases felt in all sectors of the consumer budget. It was the biggest monthly jump since June, 1956.

Most of the increase came from a two-per-cent rise in food costs which the bureau described as a seasonal increase. The index consumer living costs, based on 1949 prices, equalling 100, now is 1.1 per cent higher than the Oct. 1, 1950, level of 128.0.

The bureau said food price tags rose in September on eggs, most meats, bananas, citrus fruits and tomatoes, though there were lower prices for apples, Canadian-grown vegetables, veal and lamb. Net of

Apart from the rise in food prices, the part of the consumer budget most affected in September was clothing.

The index of clothing costs advanced three-fifths of one per cent to 112 from 110.5 between
